Latest Advices From Fivizzano Bring Total of Dead There Up to 423

124 Dead in Vignatta and About 1000 Injured—10,000 People Homeless

FLORENCE, Italy, Sept. 9.—(By Associated Press)—The number of dead from Tuesday's earthquake is steadily growing, as additional reports come in. The latest advices from Fivizzano bring the total of dead there alone up to 243, while in Vignatta 124 are dead and about 1000 injured.

In nearly three score towns and villages serious damage was done, and a total population of more than 10,000 rendered homeless.

Signor Mitchell, the minister of agriculture, is visiting the outlying mountainous districts and giving all the assistance possible.

King Views Ruins
FIVIZZANO, Sept. 6.—(By courier to Florence)—King Victor Emmanuel of Italy today visited the ruin visited upon this city by the earthquake. He went into every quarter of the town and entered buildings whose crumbling walls threatened to fall if another tremor should come, and talked with survivors, expressing his profound grief over the misfortune that had befallen them and comforting the injured.

Years of war and of national stress have aged the Italian sovereign. His hair is much grayer than it was when he first visited the front where his troops were holding the rocky mountain ridge against the Austrians. His whole figure seems to reflect the weight of care as well as the passing of time. Still he retains his kindly glance and in the midst of desolation he was calm today as he picked his way over fallen buildings. He was preeminently the king of Italians and thought only for his people. Learning that some of the survivors had not tasted food for 36 hours because of the ruin and disorder resulting from the disaster, he ordered that all food in his private car be distributed among them.

During his walk, the king approached a structure upon which was lying an aged woman and gently touched her forehead. The woman opened her eyes and recognized the gray uniform of the king. She then fell into his arms and he struggled to kiss her hand, sobbing: "My little grandsons; my little grandsons."

Inquiry from Victor Emmanuel elicited the information that the woman's entire family with the exception of herself and the two small sons, had been buried in their home and killed. When the monarch promised to look after the children, joy shone through the tears in the eyes of the sufferer and she murmured: "May the madonna bless you. You are, indeed, good to me. You are a real father to your people."

Ultimate Aim of Italian Metal Workers Who Have Seized Many Plants

Tomorrow Critical Day in History of Movement—Government to Act

ROME, Sept. 9.—Efforts continue to bring about a solution of the situation which has arisen throughout Italy as a result of the movement among metal workers to occupy plants in many of the most important industrial centers. The government has been called upon to intervene but so far has been neutral.

Reports received here indicate that quiet prevails at all affected centers and that engineers, foremen and clerical staffs employed at occupied plants will refuse to join the workers. The fact that delegates from workmen and employers' organizations are in communication with each other is looked upon as being favorable to an adjustment of the situation.

Strike Deadlocked—Body of Man Alleged to Have Been

Strike Breaker Found

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—With a deadlock apparently reached in the strike of Brooklyn Rapid Transit company employees, more violence was reported today, the 12th since the walkout began. The company has asked for greater police protection.

Reports were received at police headquarters that the body of a man alleged to have been a strike-breaker, was found in Coney Island creek; that alleged attempts to short circuit currents had resulted in several coaches and railroad tracks being pulled near the Brighton beach elevated terminal in Coney Island.

The police also were investigating reports that a piece of gas pipe had been found attached from an overhead trolley wire to a rail and that the wire melted after a short circuit, fell into the street with a roar.

SKULL FRACTURED

South Walker Street Boy Seriously Injured Today

Edward Flanagan, aged about 12 years and residing at 110 South Walker street, is in a very serious condition at St. John's hospital as a result of an accident, which occurred near his home shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon. As far as could be learned the boy was riding on an automobile truck and when a point near his home was reached, he jumped from the machine and fell on his head. The ambulance removed him to the hospital, where it was stated later that the boy was suffering from a fracture of the skull and his chances for recovery were slight.

LOWELL ELKS HOLD ANNUAL OUTING

Shortly after 12 o'clock today, the last automobile carrying members of the Lowell Lodge of Elks left Middle street, enroute for the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro, where the annual outing was held this afternoon. Fully 200 automobiles made the trip over the road in detachments, just as soon as they were filled in front of the organization rooms in Middle street. The outing was for members of the B. P. O. E. only, and besides the large majority of local members taking part, there were many representatives from the lodges of Medford, Lawrence and Nashua present. Mayor Thompson was an invited guest of the Lowell lodge and Congressman John Jacob Rogers promised to attend.

One of the promised features of the afternoon was a baseball game between the Lowell and Medford lodges for a silver loving cup donated by Exalted Ruler Richard T. Robinson. Immediately upon the arrival of the automobiles at the grounds, dinner was served after which Mayor Thompson delivered an address and Exalted Ruler Robinson spoke of matters interesting to lodge members. Then followed the baseball game and other track and field sports.

COX AT HELENA, MONT.

Arguments in Behalf of the League Adapted to Affairs of West Presented

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 9.—Arguments in behalf of the League of Nations adapted to affairs of the west, were presented here today by Governor Cox. He outlined what he declared were practical material benefits to flow from the league.

"It has recently been figured," said the governor, "that the cost of one battleship would reclaim two million acres of land."

Multiply this by 48, the number of states, adopting the plan of one battleship for each state, and you have a staggering total, and, if properly applied, the answer to the problem of housing in our cities, the answer to the question of increased production for sustenance of human life. The expenditure required to total would reclaim 150,000 square miles of waste. It would build 10 permanently paved arteries entirely across the United States.

"Think of this in terms of reclamation of arid and waste lands. If you will, and think what it would mean to have one million men, exclusive of thousands required in shipyards, and ammunition plants turning their activities to the production of the necessities of life rather than to employment in the creation of agencies for the destruction of life."

The governor's speech here, after a few year platform addresses en route, opened the final day of his Montana campaign. He came here from Great Falls, and was scheduled to speak late today at Anaconda and at Butte tonight.

Linking the league, Governor Cox told his Helena audience that the United States is looked upon "as a nation of quitters, prosperous and self-satisfied while our associates as well as our enemies in Europe are starving to death."

"America cannot enter into the period of prosperity to which we are entitled," he said "until the doubt and distrust and growing hatred against us, created by the apostles of hate in the senatorial oligarchy have been removed."

Governor Cox also inveighed against a separate peace with Germany and urged world disarmament.

1,000,000 DESERTIONS IN RUSSIAN ARMY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Rifle strength of the Bolshevik army on the Polish front was reduced by more than one-half as a result of the Polish counter offensive, according to reports received here today in official circles.

The Soviet armies the advice stated, have suffered heavily from desertions. The total number of unapprehended deserters in Russia, being estimated at approximately 1,000,000 with 50,000 at large in Petrograd alone.

The reports estimate the number of men opposing the anti-Bolshevik leader, General Wrangel, in South Russia as 105,000. General Wrangel's force is estimated at 140,000 men.

RAILROAD STRIKE BREAK

Walkout Paralyzed Every Division of National Lines in Mexico for Eight Hours

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 9.—A railroad strike which virtually paralyzed every division of the National Lines for eight hours yesterday was settled last evening, when Provisional President De la Huerta granted most of the demands presented by the strikers. It was announced that the railroad operation throughout the republic had been resumed.

Announcement was made that virtually all the demands of the strikers in cotton mills, tobacco factories and shoe manufacturing were made granted and that strikers had returned to work.

Cotton mill workers in the states of Vera Cruz, Tlaxcala and Puebla have declared a strike and a widespread walkout of agricultural workers in the state of Michacan was reported by newspapers.

IS NEARING THE COAST OF FRANCE

Lowell Boy Who Started Swim Last Night Is Six Miles Off France

Members of Family Here Confident He Will Reach Goal

RANSFATE, England, Sept. 9.—Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., who last night started from Dover, in an attempt to swim the English channel to the French coast, was six miles off Cape Grisnez, southwest of Calais, France, at 7 o'clock this morning.

This is Sullivan's third attempt to negotiate the channel and members of his family here are confident that he will reach his goal. Last month he made an attempt to cross from Dover to Calais, but was forced to give up when within three miles of his goal on account of the rough sea. In 1913 he also made an ineffectual attempt to cross the channel at South Foreland. This time he was only able to get within six miles of the French coast.

The new school is to be under the supervision of Principal Thos. A. Ginty, who will be assisted by a corps of six men and six women teachers.

It is stated that in a number of cases that have been brought to public notice a very real hardship will result to families as the result of the loss of employment by boys and girls who are required to attend the continuation school. It is pointed out that the law provides for the compulsory attendance of all children between the ages named therein, and that no exception can be made to its operation. It is understood, however, that a number of public agencies have had the matter under consideration and that an effort will be made to provide places of employment for any boy or girl whose loss of employment as a result of the establishment of the school is likely to work a hardship upon dependents.

MCSWINEY PASSED A VERY BAD NIGHT

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, who has been on a hunger strike since Aug. 12, passed a very bad night and complained again this morning of dizziness, according to a bulletin issued by the Irish self-determination league. He also experienced numbness in his legs and arms. A physician who attended him yesterday, the lord mayor was visited last night by Father Patrick McSwiney, a cousin, who said he was surprised to find the prisoner so well. He expressed belief that the crisis would not come for three or four days.

The noon bulletin issued by the league stated that signs of atrophy of the skin had appeared, and that as a consequence, the mayor's arms were being massaged and bandaged.

Big Blunder, Says Asquith

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Ex-Premier Asquith, answering an appeal from John Howard Whitehouse, former liberal member of the house of commons, for his intervention in behalf of Mayor MacSwiney, said: "I think the decision to allow the lord mayor to die in the first instance, a political blunder of the first magnitude. I would gladly intervene if any appeal of mine could lead even now to wiser counsels prevailing, but I fear that the latest declaration of the ministers precludes any such hope."

Says Pope Interceded
ROME, Sept. 9.—The pope has interceded in behalf of Lord Mayor MacSwiney, now in Brixton prison, London, according to the Giornale d'Italia. Commenting on the situation in Ireland and the imprisoned mayor, the paper says: "Lord Mayor MacSwiney is being tortured in the course of centuries, when Englishmen will join in his glorification just as recently they joined in the apotheosis of Joan of Arc."

CONTINUATION SCHOOL

Local Employers May Discharge Workers Between Ages of 14 and 16 Years

Rumors have reached the school department. It was stated by Superintendent Hugh J. Molloy this morning that in certain cases employers in this city have announced their intention to discharge any of their present workers between the ages of 14 and 16 years of age who will be compelled to attend the continuation school that is to begin its sessions in the high school annex September 20.

It is estimated that about 1000 girls and boys will be compelled to attend the school under the law which provides that the new educational facilities shall be provided. The law requires that all persons between the ages of 14 and 16 years of age shall attend school at least four hours a week during the time that the other public schools are in session.

The new school is to be in session from 1 to 5 p. m. every day except Saturdays and Sundays. It is planned to have the students attend one four-hour session each week.

The continuation school is to be under the supervision of Principal Thos. A. Ginty, who will be assisted by a corps of six men and six women teachers.

It is stated that in a number of cases that have been brought to public notice a very real hardship will result to families as the result of the loss of employment by boys and girls who are required to attend the continuation school. It is pointed out that the law provides for the compulsory attendance of all children between the ages named therein, and that no exception can be made to its operation. It is understood, however, that a number of public agencies have had the matter under consideration and that an effort will be made to provide places of employment for any boy or girl whose loss of employment as a result of the establishment of the school is likely to work a hardship upon dependents.

MORE WITNESSES CALLED BY SENATE PROBERS

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—The senate committee investigating presidential campaign expenditures today called additional witnesses cited by E. H. Moore, personal representative of Governor Cox as men who could give detailed information concerning the $15,000,000 campaign fund which the democratic candidate has made to provide places of employment for any boy or girl whose loss of employment as a result of the establishment of the school is likely to work a hardship upon dependents.

LOCAL TRAFFIC SITUATION

Embargo Lifted on Freight Coming Here Over the B. & M. Tracks

Proposition For Establishment of Through Car Lines to Western Cities

There were two important developments in the local traffic situation this morning. One was the receipt of a letter by Traffic Manager W. F. Whitcomb of the chamber of commerce of a letter from W. T. LaMoure, freight traffic manager of the Boston & Maine railroad, announcing that beginning at midnight last night freight began moving toward Lowell over the Boston & Maine tracks via Rotterdam Junction, Troy and Mechanicsville, N. Y., an embargo that has been effective since August 28 having been lifted at that hour. Another development was the announcement by Mr. Whitcomb that plans have been perfected for submission to the manufacturers of Lowell of a proposition for the establishment of through car lines to a number of western cities of less than carload freight.

The embargo that was lifted last night was of the copper variety, and it was stated that the embargo had serious consequences to the industries of the city if long continued. It placed an embargo on all freight bound for Lowell via the New York Central and the Boston & Maine over the Delaware and Hudson and New York Central roads with the exception of coal for public utilities, livestock, perishables, railroad supplies and freight consigned to an officer of the United States government.

To Clear Up Congestion
The embargo was placed to enable the railroad to clear up the congestion of freight brought about by the necessity of handling large quantities of coal. When the embargo went into effect it was announced that practically no permits would be granted for freight past the designated points and this policy has been strictly followed.

With the three New England gateways of the Boston & Maine railroad wide open again it is believed that larger shipments of coal will soon be able to reach this city.

The embargo that went into effect on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad Aug. 22 on freight bound into New England through the Harlem river, Maybrook and Campbell Hall gateways is still in effect.

Under the terms of the New Haven embargo considerable classes of freight are continuing to move freely.

NEW STATE FISH INSPECTION LAW

Explained at City Hall This Afternoon By State Inspector Millett

Says Law Is Intended to Protect Public and Honest Dealers

At a public meeting at the city hall this afternoon, State Inspector of Fish Arthur L. Millett, told the story of why the new state fish inspection law means better fish food for the public, how under the provisions of the new law the purchaser is protected from how General C. L. will be hit a body blow on the left flank as a result of the appearance of the average weekly bill of fare in the average home, which will come, he claims, after public confidence in the quality of fish is restored through the living up to the provisions of the law.

In speaking of the new law and the benefits which will come from it, the inspector said it had to do with furnishing the public the opportunity of buying only good fish and with knowing exactly what they are buying. And on this is based the assumption that with this achieved, public confidence in the use of fish as a food staple will be greatly increased, thereby bringing about an increased demand for, and consumption of, Massachusetts caught fish, to the end that the time-honored one-day-a-week will be relegated to the discard and that two and even three Fridays may become the rule and not the exception in the food week program of every family.

Confidence In Fish
It is a big subject by itself. It is contended that if the public mind can be educated to the fact that in buying its fish dinner it is buying only good fish or frozen fish and that the dealer is under the law, not allowed to expose for sale fish unfit for food (as has too often been the case), and also that the dealer is obliged by law to indicate to the purchaser just what grade of fish he is buying, all just truthful terms, either by printed signs or word of mouth; it is contended and it would seem reasonably so, that a state of confidence will be set up in the mind of the buying public with the inevitable result that this same public will buy more fish, will eat more fish, and that the average home will have more fish and that fish as a food staple will come into its own. This is the groundwork of

DEMPSEY ON WAY TO NEW YORK

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—Jack Dempsey, accompanied by Manager Jack Kearns, left yesterday for New York where Kearns hopes to clinch the match with Louis Smith, San Francisco heavyweight, and Bill Brennan of Chicago. The match with Smith is tentatively set for Boston on Sept. 25. Dempsey's contest with Brennan, probably will be decided in New York.

While Dempsey was preparing to leave, he learned that Billy Miske, his opponent in the Labor day battle at Benton Harbor, Mich., was in the hotel dining room having luncheon with Mrs. Miske. The champion immediately left his friends to find Miske. They chatted pleasantly for a few minutes and parted with a hearty handshake.

Before leaving Benton Harbor, Dempsey presented Mrs. Floyd Fitzsimmons, wife of the promoter of the fight, with a $10,000 automobile. Miske returned to his home in St. Paul today for a hunting trip.

WAS ASSAULTED AND ROBBED IN PELHAM

How he was held up, assaulted and robbed on the North bridge in Pelham last night about 7:30 o'clock and then pushed over the bridge railing into the river in his struggle with his two men assailants was told this morning by John A. McQuade of the Boston fish market of this city. Mr. McQuade was returning to this city after covering his route through Pelham and Wrentham when attacked, but by putting up a stiff fight with the two men prevented them from getting a large sum of money which he had in bills in his possession. His change bag, containing a few dollars in silver was taken, however.

In the struggle McQuade was cut about the head and was badly bruised about the body. His injuries were treated at Pelham Centre and then he returned to his home in this city. The police of surrounding cities and towns have been notified and Sheriff O'Dowd of Manchester, N. H., will conduct an investigation.

PERPETUAL CARE FUND
Cemetery Commission Says Any Appeal for Transfer From Fund Will Be Promptly Turned Down

At a meeting of the cemetery commissioners yesterday afternoon the opinion was expressed by Commissioner George H. Taylor, and concurred in by his associates, that any appeal from the sinking fund commission for a transfer of funds in the perpetual care fund of the cemetery department to meet a deficit caused by the shrinkage in value of securities held by the city to be used for redeeming its bonds would be promptly turned down.

Previous to this expression of opinion a decision given by City Solicitor Regan was read. In the decision it was stated that the solicitor believes that the perpetual care fund is under the supervision of the cemetery commission and that it can direct the city treasurer as to any disposition to be made of either the whole or any part of the fund. It was also stated that the commissioners have exclusive control over all matters pertaining to the city cemetery.

In discussing the decision Chairman Rigby said that he had received numerous letters protesting against any transfer of the perpetual care fund. He read one such letter received from Lilla J. Jackson, of Malden, a lot owner.

Quake Death List Grows

searching the ruins for any victims who may still be alive, but the work is seriously handicapped by the difficulty experienced in reaching many of the ruined towns, which are situated in the mountains and are almost inaccessible. Electric light wires have been broken and work in the ruins must stop at nightfall.

New shocks, but none of them of the intensity of the one which caused the widespread destruction early on Tuesday, have been felt in Florence and in the neighborhood of that city. These have shaken down tottering structures, however, and still further delayed the work of rescuers. Massacarrara, in the center of the earthquake zone, was cut off from communication with the outside world last night, but it is not believed a new catastrophe has occurred there.

The upheaval was especially terrific in the famous quarry district of Carrara, from which come the finest specimens of marble. Great rocks, dislodged by the shock, rolled down steep roads leading up into the hills, crushing everything in their path.

Many Killed in Church

A tragic and memorable scene was enacted at Marina, near Carrara, when the earthquake shattered a church where mass was being celebrated. Father Frigotti, the pastor, had just raised the chalice in the most solemn moment of the service, when the ceiling of the edifice fell upon the congregation, killing many. The priest was struck by falling fragments of the ceiling and his hands and face were cut, but he reverently finished the service before attending to the injuries of those about him.

Less fortunate was Father Riccardo Bruscolletti at Castanzello, who was killed while celebrating mass. At Castel Nuovo Carignana, the wife of Deputy Dugoni was among the injured.

Pope Benedict sent a telegram to Cardinal Peir Maffi, archbishop of Pisa, asking him to go into the earthquake zone and administer aid and moral support and distribute supplies. Before the pontiff's telegram arrived, the cardinal had left for the devastated district.

50 Bodies Taken From Ruins

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Fifty dead victims of the Italian earthquake have been taken from the ruins of the town of Barga, says a despatch from Lucca to the Exchange Telegraph Co. the message adding that many more are buried in the debris. The village of Gragnana is a heap of ruins. Vignat has been destroyed and thousands are homeless at Tassilo, Catelette, Montecello and Ceterano.

Alkali in Shampoos
Bad for Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulford coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulford at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about ten drops is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is left fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Bolsheviki and Polish Envoys to Confer

WARSAW, Sept. 8. (By Associated Press.)—Letvin has given the necessary guarantees to the Russian soviet government, and as a result, a Bolshevik peace delegation will go to Riga to meet Polish representatives, Prince Sapieha, Polish foreign minister, was notified today by George Tchibeterin, Russian Bolshevik minister of foreign affairs.

MORE POLLING BOOTHS

Chairman of Election Commissioners, Mayor Municipal Council Must Provide Better Voting Accommodations.

If the national and state election in November is to be conducted with order and despatch, in the opinion of Chairman Hugh C. McOsker of the board of election commissioners, it is imperative that more polling places shall be provided for by action of the municipal council.

Although the number of votes cast in the primaries Tuesday was not large, it was made apparent from the presence of so many women voters at the polls that present facilities will be entirely inadequate when the full vote is expected in November is being registered. It is believed possible that when the registry lists are closed for

Do You Need a Kidney Medicine?

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything, but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it may be found just the medicine you need. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle healing herbal compound—a physician's prescription which has proved its great value in thousands of the most distressing cases according to reliable testimony.

At druggists in large and medium size bottles. You may have a sample size bottle of this always reliable preparation by parcel post, also pamphlet telling about it. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Enclose ten cents, also mention The Lowell Sun.

AUTO HITS MOTORCYCLE

An automobile owned and driven by Edward B. Billings, 25 President avenue, Providence, R. I., collided with a motorcycle driven by Thomas Gearin, of 450 Merrimack street on the boulevard in Hillieria about 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. According to the report received at the police station the automobile was coming towards Lowell and when near the red light leads from the boulevard to North Hillieria met the motorcycle. The rear mud guard of Billings' machine struck the handle bars of the motorcycle and threw Gearin and his wife and two children to the ground, injuring one of the children, a boy three years old. The boy was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital where it was found that he was injured about the head and legs.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Naim Haroun, alias, charged with maintaining a house on Tyler street for unlawful purposes, was arraigned in police court today and was ordered under $1000 bonds for trial on September 15. He was arrested by Inspectors Cooney and Morse.

Mary Blanche St. Ours and Marie Rose Levesque, charged with lewd behavior and connected with the Haroun case, pleaded guilty and were ordered under $200, each for sentence on September 15.

Arrested Fined

Liberte Verreault, of Dracut, charged with operating an automobile on Fletcher street on the evening of August 30 with no headlights, no registration plates and no rear light was found guilty of the first two complaints and ordered to pay a fine of $5 on each. The complaint charging him with displaying no rear light was put on file.

Joseph Kaplan, a salesman of Boston, charged with operating his automobile on Moody street on September 2 having no license in his possession, had his case placed on file after it was found that he had made application for a license from the state highway commission, and for some reason or other has not yet received it.

Walter G. Sturtevant, charged with operating an automobile recklessly and endangering the lives and safety of the public was ordered under personal recognizance for trial on August 21.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. John A. Saunders of East Chelmsford and Miss Jane F. Hickey of this city took place yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Rev. James M. Craig at his home, 3 Belmont street. The couple, who were unattended, will make their home at 1601 Gorham street.

Monksberry-Gorman

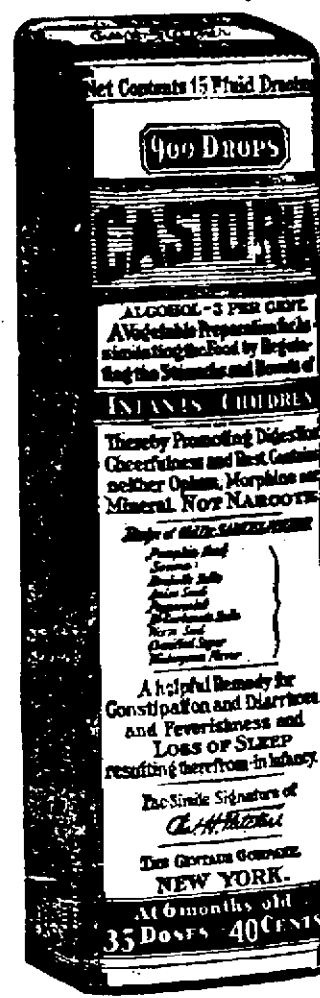

A pretty marriage took place yesterday at St. Patrick's church, where Mr. James J. Monksberry and Miss Margaret Mary Gorman, niece of Miss Catharine Gorman, were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Kaenan. During the mass appropriate hymns were sung by Miss Frances Tighe, Mr. John Monksberry presiding at the organ. The bride was handsomely attired in white duchess satin en-trainé, with old lace and pearl trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. She was given away by her aunt, while the groom's witness was Mr. Thomas Gorman, brother of the bride. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Frances Costello, cousin of the bride, who wore pink georgette with picture hat to match and carried pink roses. The flower girl was Virginia Gorman, niece of the bride, who wore pink silk with lace overdress and carried a basket of pink and white. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride, 21 Marsh street and at 4:45 o'clock the happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left on a honeymoon trip to New York and Washington. Upon their return they will make their home in this city.

Mr. Lewis Nelson Hickey of this city and Miss Marion Hester Clogston of West Chelmsford were married yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Clogston, in West Chelmsford, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Chauncey W. Hawkins of the First Congregational church of this city. The matron of honor was Mrs. Alden Church Goodnow of Danvers, while the bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Wright and Miss Marion McKnight, both of this city. The best man was a brother of the groom, Mr. Arthur Balfie of Montreal. After an extended honeymoon trip through Canada the couple will make their home in West Chelmsford.

The marriage of Mr. Thomas F. Hickey and Miss Marcelle M. O'Donnell took place yesterday afternoon at the Sacred Heart rectory, the cere-

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Of Course You Love Your Baby.

You love it because of its very helplessness, because it can't tell you what is the matter when it feels bad. It can only cry and look to you for help. But the more you love baby, the more you want to help baby, the more you ought to realize what a wonderful remedy Fletcher's Castoria is. It has been used for babies' ailments for over thirty years.

An experienced doctor discovered Fletcher's Castoria especially for babies' use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Doctors who know what is safe and best for babies have only good to say of it.

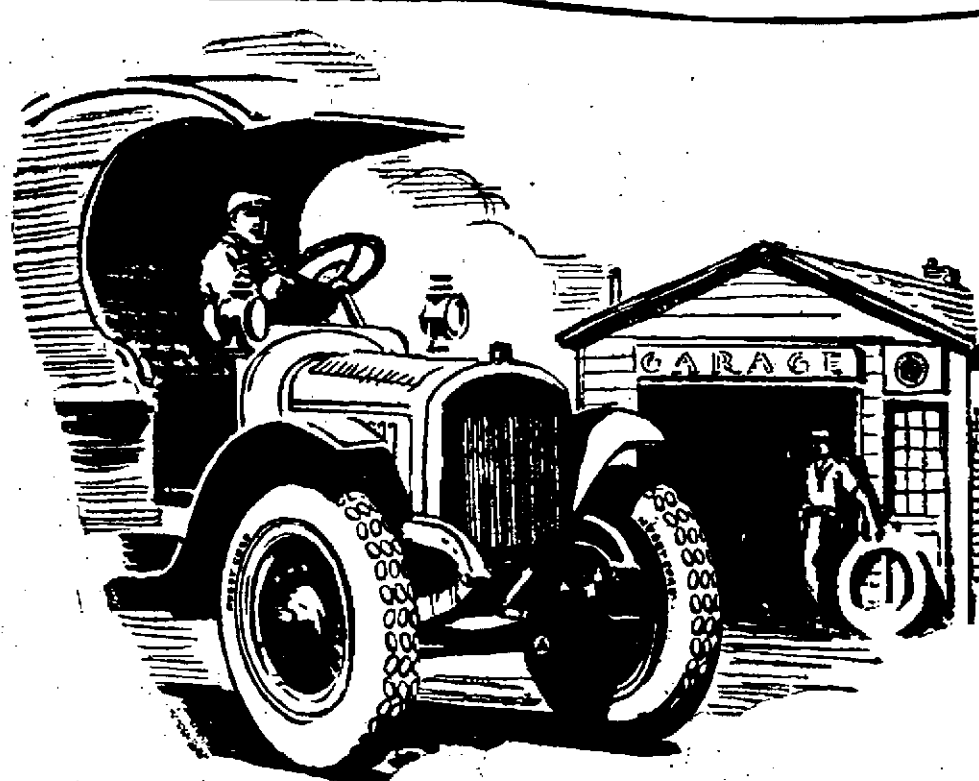

Don't neglect your baby. Get a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria and give baby a few doses of it. See how the little one smiles at you as if trying to thank you for helping it. Soon you will learn to depend on Fletcher's Castoria, made just for Infants and Children, and of course you would not think of using anything for them that was not prepared especially for Infants and Children. So keep it in the house.

Merely putting a Heavy Truck on Air is Not Enough

NOT all pneumatic-tired trucks are delivering economy.

Some owners would have found it cheaper to stick to solid tires than to run on pneumatics not built to meet trucking conditions.

Merely putting a heavy truck on air is not enough.

The air has got to be contained in something—in something stronger than the ordinary pneumatic tire.

We don't recommend pneumatics for all truck uses.

But where we do recommend them, we recommend U. S. Nobby Cords—truck pneumatics built to meet trucking conditions—with side walls bulwarked, flaps moulded, breaker strips multiplied and cords positively anchored around the bead wires—features that give U. S. Nobby Cords the exclusive position they occupy today.

mony being performed by the pastor, Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Josephine O'Donnell. Mr. John Hickey, brother of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony the couple resided to the home of the bride where a reception was held to the immediate relatives. Mr. John McGillicuddy, organist at St. Margaret's church, was the accompanist of the evening. After a brief honeymoon to Atlantic City the happy couple will make their home in this city.

Levasseur-Dion
Mr. Ellis J. Levasseur and Miss Bella Dion were married this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated at 8 o'clock at St. Joseph's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Antoine A. Amyot, O.M.I. The couple were attended by their respective fathers, Messrs. Joseph Levasseur and Joseph Dion. At the close of the mass a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 142 Gorham avenue and later the couple left on a brief honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will make their home at 142 Gorham avenue.

POLAND AND THE LEAGUE

Poland has applied to the League of Nations to settle the boundary dispute on the Lithuanian frontier. It is regrettable that two ancient nations like Poland and Lithuania should be at war on being restored to freedom after centuries of bondage. Poland is insistent that she get back the territory wrested from her perhaps centuries ago and still inhabited by her people. In other words, she is trying to have all the Poles included under the sway of Poland. The League of Nations has barely begun to function. It was not free under the covenant to assume control of the dispute between Poland and Lithuania for the reason that the latter is outside the league, and is recognized only by Soviet Russia, which binds Lithuania to assist the Soviet in war or to allow the free passage of troops through her territory.

Lithuania must agree to submit the case to the League of Nations before the league can act in the premises. It is hoped that this method will be adopted in order to put an end to the internecine strife between these two states which, in the enjoyment of their newly won freedom, should agree to leave the case to the form of arbitration provided for in the league covenant.

It is amazing to find how many conflicts are in progress as a result of the changes in national boundaries established by the peace congress and now recognized by the League of Nations.

Now that forty-three of the fifty nations are members of the league, why should it not have ample power to function without waiting for the United States to enter. If it has jurisdiction, it should endeavor to stop the wars that are raging in Europe, Asia, Africa. If it keeps on in its inactive state, it will be little better than a briefless international lawyer. Its course in the case of Poland will be closely watched.

NOMINATION OF WALSH

The surprise of the primaries on the democratic side was the defeat of Richard H. Long for the nomination by Senator Walsh of Boston. It appears that a great number of voters thought that it was United States Senator David I. Walsh who was running and accordingly voted for Walsh, feeling that he would have a better chance of election than would Mr. Long. Now, however, that State Senator Walsh has been nominated the party must stand behind him in order that if possible he may be elected.

If the women register in time for the election, they may change Massachusetts from a republican to a democratic state. The women cannot assert their political power in any more practical way.

THE CALAMITY REFRAIN

Many republican editors—indeed we might say all of them—are endeavoring to ring in the industrial threat such as was heard in the McKinley days when the republicans had the power through their manipulation of the money market to produce a panic whenever they pleased. Times have changed and Wall street is no longer the arbiter of who shall have credit and who shall not; yet the old refrain of erstwhile political campaigns is again heard as the following from the Courier-Citizen will show:

Even the prospect of a republican victory means resumption of work in the factories this autumn and a beginning of lower costs of living for which every producer and every consumer should be grateful.

The voters of the present day cannot be intimidated by any such piffle. This is mild, however, as compared with what was formerly, issued from republican sources to alarm the wage earners. On many occasions they were told of the alleged danger of soup kitchens and breadlines as the concomitants of democratic rule. The calamity howl has been considerably toned down and today it has no terrors for democrats and no efficacy in bringing voters to the republican fold.

INSURING EMPLOYEES

In order to prevent skilled operatives in the textile factories from moving from city to city or mill to mill, some companies are adopting a plan of life insurance based upon the length of service of the employees. The Hamilton and the Appleton mills of this city have been among the first to adopt free life insurance for operatives and recently the Arlington mills of Lawrence put a liberal scheme of life insurance in force for its employees. The amounts range from $150 for employees of less than one year's service to $1500 for those who have four and a half year's service to their credit.

This plan was put in operation on Tuesday of this week and is a real boon to the operatives. It constitutes no contract with employees and confers no legal rights on them, nor does it change their right to leave when they please or the company's right to discharge them at will. Each policy provides that if employees are permanently or totally disabled before they reach 60 years of age, they will benefit to the full amount of their insurance, while in the employ of the Arlington mills, and during the continuance of this insurance.

This insurance does not interfere with any benefits that may be claimed under the Workman's Compensation law.

This plan of holding the employees in continuous service, gives the company in return the benefit of their long experience. Being for employees only, of course, the policy holder who leaves the company loses his insurance. The mills of the American Woolen company have in force an insurance system somewhat similar and maintained at the company's expense. It is intended to promote good will toward the employer, and permanency of employment; to prevent labor troubles and give the operatives a live interest in the welfare of the company. It is an innovation that is worthy of emulation by other mills.

STARTLING DISCLOSURES

Thus far the senatorial investigating committee at Chicago has not been able to break down the charges made by Governor Cox of republican plans for vast campaign funds.

Mr. Blossom, director of public welfare for the city of Cleveland, proved a valuable witness. He confirmed the charge of Gov. Cox as to city quotas and testified that the quota set for the city of Cleveland alone was $100,000, whereas Treasurer Upham told the committee that this sum was the quota for the entire state.

The evidence is certainly very damaging to the republican cause. Chairman Kenyon tried to suppress direct exposure of the republican operations, but Senator Reed brought out most of the facts. The revelations will spread consternation in the republican camp; and the end is not yet in sight.

FULLER'S VICTORY

That Speaker Warner should have gone down before Congressman Fuller is one of the surprises on the republican side in the primaries of Tuesday. Fuller accused Warner of business somewhat similar to that charged against State Treasurer Burrell. He went so far as to compare the legislature to Alibi and the Forty Thieves. Whether he had much or little behind his charges, he caused a doubt in the minds of the voters sufficient to defeat Mr. Warner. The scheme of republican succession is thus given a serious jolt. Fuller is a wealthy man, a former progressive and a good fighter. He will be a hard man to beat.

The working class in Japan is organizing a general federation of labor based on lines similar to the American Federation of Labor. One of its aims will be to prevent an influx of Chinese labor just as we wish to prevent the Japanese from overrunning the western states recently threatened. Thus Japan must clearly understand the effect of having the labor forces of the nation disturbed by an influx of cheap labor from abroad.

"Can it be that this persistent mud-slayer, this purveyor of groundless charges, is the type of man to be placed in the highest office in the gift of the American people?" asks the Boston Herald. It is perhaps needless to point out that the question was penned before some of the latest slush-fund revelations had been made public.

France is rapidly overcoming the effects of the war. Her imports in 1920 show an increase of 13.90 per cent over those of last year and her exports 18.93 per cent over those of 1919. Thus she has decreased the adverse balance of trade by 28.97, which is a good showing made under most adverse circumstances.

In view of the fact that it used to be considered not quite permissible for a man to vote for himself for office, we should like to know whether it is to be proper for a wife to cast her ballot for her husband in the future, and also if a man's own better-half won't vote for him who else is likely to?

There were 2600 auto accidents in this commonwealth during the first six months of 1920. The number of similar happenings the first six months of the present year was more than 3500. The Massachusetts judge is doubtless right who thinks that in this fact is to be found a reason for chalking up another long black mark against "jakey," "moonshine" and other forms of illicit booze.

Boston politicians seem to be taking Peter F. Taggart's renomination for congress as an indication that the time has come for digging the political grave of Martin Lomasney. The friends of the mahatma, who have seen his grave excavated many times in the past, however, are not likely to incur any expense just yet awhile for sackcloth and ashes for use at his funeral.

Today, tomorrow and Saturday are "tomato days" in Lowell, and you can benefit yourself by buying for present or future consumption tomatoes, which are believed by many to have rare medicinal qualities, and at the same time encourage the farmers to provide a bumper crop next year.

One way of helping toward obtaining a better city government for Lowell will be to take a lively interest in the acts of the charter commission and attend, if possible, some of its meetings, the first of which is to be held tonight in the city hall.

A burial call may dread the fire, but G. O. P. leaders rush into an attempt to buy the presidency as cheerfully as though they had not learned what happened to the candidates who made the highest bids for the party's nomination at Chicago.

The Cambridge woman who spent 15 minutes wrestling with her primary ballot and then slipped it into the box unmarked did at least a little better than her stay-at-home sisters. She tried.

Under the headline "Drop of 45 in Tax Rate in Holliston" we almost expect to read, "Few of the taxpayers survived the shock of surprise."

Democrats and republicans can unite in rejoicing over one victory—that of the slicker over Burrellism.

Now that the wise man or woman begins "saving-up" for the next vacation.

It may become a habit—voting for Walsh for governor.

This was a homestead. Now the trees lead but to old memories. The chimney and its friendly hearth are clasped to stones and crumbling earth.

A ridge of masonry recalls The High straight thick-limbeded walls. And winding roses in a row. Tell where the garden used to go. Perhaps some daisies nodding head Retain a glimpse of hall or shed; The four-square house's simple plan The pioneer, its artisan Who sought his homestead like the rest.

—Marie R. Gilchrist in New York Evening Post.

By O. B. Joynt

Labor Day is no joke to the human hoof. It is a period of tense and ardent effort to keep up with the parade in the forenoon, and with man's picnic party in the aft. The aching feet, the tired feet, how they throb, and hurt, and sting! The feet so happily joyful at the dawn of day, are the feet so doggone tired at the end of Labor Day. They're the feet used to hike. They're the feet, union feet, willing feet, but, by heck! they're not in the habit of marching so far. Nothing wrong with the feet—in the morning. But, believe you me, there's something out of gear with 'em before they get past the reviewing stand. Never before did the feet have any idea city blocks were a mile long, and the farther you go the longer the blocks.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I had something to say a day or two ago about a climb to the top of one of the lower peaks of the Green Mountains. On this hike I made a second interesting discovery. Recently, as already mentioned in this column, Mr. Pierre Gregoire brought into The Sun office a beautiful, delicately moulded flower that was shaped like an Indian calumet. As I tramped through a damp, shaded forest on the Vermont hillside I was rather startled to come suddenly upon a large patch of these same pipes growing luxuriantly among the grass. As I stated in my story about Mr. Gregoire's flower, it is probable that they are to be found plentifully enough in the vicinity of Lowell if one only knows where to look for them, so it appears that farther north they grow abundantly where conditions are favorable. The plant seems to belong, or to be closely allied, to the mushroom family. It grows apparently in much the same way as do the other mushrooms, and after it has been kept for awhile it hardens and turns to an inky blackness all over. The name of the plant I have learned is appropriately "Indian pipe." Some day I hope to get a chance to reopen the old school text book on botany and learn as much about the flower as probably many of the school children of Lowell now know. One does not have to journey to Vermont, though, to find interest in beauty in the realm of flowers at the present time. It is hard to tell which season of the year has the most joys for the admirers of the products of the dooryard gardens of the city. It seems to me, however, that it is in the early fall that we catch some of the most entrancing views of form and color as we pause for a glance over the fences as we pass along the streets of Lowell.

"We are living, first and foremost," says James A. Moyer, director of the state department of university extension, in his latest news letter to students, "in the age of education. For, although money and simple handwork each play an important role in the world's work, it is education which directs the skilled hand and gives an effective power to the invested dollar."

"No circumstance could be more favorable to the development of self-made men—men who owe success to their own endeavors. Education, more strongly than any other force, has the power to advance men toward achievement; and education, moreover, lies within easy reach of almost every normal man and woman in Massachusetts. There is hardly a young man or young woman who reads these lines who cannot give himself or herself a good general education. All that is needed is a determined will, unflinching courage and self-discipline," says Dr. Frank Crane.

"Every one of them wastes time enough in four years to secure advantages equivalent to a college course. Several states, among them Massachusetts, have built up educational systems based on the spare minute. Your own division of university extension is one such system, designed to give you supervised instruction, by class or correspondence, in your leisure time."

"Your education must first of all fit you to perform your own work efficiently, whether that work be laying bricks or teaching school. Every knack of the hand or of the mind, however slight, is worth learning, so long as it has a bearing on what you perform. And after the education for work, comes the education for enjoyment—the training which teaches you to find pleasure in things you could not appreciate before; which points out to you the interest in the simple things about you. To sum up: that man is educated who is a master at his own trade, and who finds every detail of life worth thinking over."

At Depot Headquarters, 37 Essex street, Boston, the quartermaster offers for sale at retail, by mail order or otherwise: bacon in 6 lb. cans, corned beef and fresh beef roast, in cans of from one to six pounds. The price of the bacon per can is $2.57; corned beef, 8 lb. can, $1.40; roast beef, 14 cents per can of 1 lb., and corned beef hash 22 cents per can. The postage for each order is six cents for the first pound and two cents for each additional pound. Full particulars may be had by writing to the address given above.

INDICATIONS POINT TO WATSON'S NOMINATION

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 9.—Incomplete newspaper returns from yesterday's state-wide democratic primary indicated that Thomas E. Watson, publisher and once populist candidate for president, had been nominated for United States senator from Georgia. During the campaign, Watson was outspoken in his opposition to the League of Nations and in his criticism of the Wilson administration. Watson's opponents were Senator Hoke Smith, who was seeking renomination, Governor Dorsey and John R. Cooper, a Macon attorney.

Socialization of Industry

metal workers are controlled by extreme socialists who are desirous of giving the movement a political character, but responsible leaders of the party are said to discourage such a policy. At many places the workers have announced they are ready to convert themselves into co-operative societies, which would undertake the direct management of works that have been occupied, pay rent which would be fixed by arbitration and deposit the necessary guarantee from his conference with Premier Lloyd George at Lucerne, Premier Giolitti issued a statement referring to "recent agreements between European socialists and Nikolai Lenin, Russian Bolshevik premier" and forecast those agreements might be forerunners of active revolutionary attempts which would soon occur in Italy. There is every indication the present movement was prepared deliberately and systematically, and that efforts were made to involve other trades beside metal workers.

The typical caudex of the Italian peninsula, however, made it difficult to set any extended revolt in motion, it is asserted. In one plant which has been taken over, workers have come into possession of 2100 quintals of grain and declared they would supply themselves with bread in the event that bakers refused to supply them. In many plants a serious situation has arisen because of the fact that the workers have armed themselves. At Sesto Giovanni, however, the supposed machine guns mounted at a plant turned out to be camouflaged wooden weapons.

Big Labor Meeting

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 9.—One hundred labor chambers and 50 federations of trades, representing 2,500,000 workmen will be represented at the meeting of the General Confederation of Labor which will convene here on Friday, to decide on the policy to be pursued by the confederation relative to the labor situation in Italy.

The Railwaysmen's Union, the Federation of Seamen, the Federation of Port Laborers, the Federation of Postal and Telegraphic Employees, and associations of civil servants all also will be represented.

Many strange incidents have occurred here since the inception of the movement by workmen to occupy factories. Signor Agnelli, known as the "king of automobile makers" has been compelled to go about the city on foot, as workers have attacked his motor whenever it has appeared. Signor Baulteri, who owns one of the largest factories in this city, found on leaving his office yesterday that two of his workmen were occupying his automobile.

"Shall we take you home?" they inquired politely. "No thanks," replied Signor Baulteri, deftly his hat. "I am waiting for a street car, and have motored so long that it is quite right you should take a turn."

The Milanese section of the reformist socialist party, while deploring the consequences to the economic condition of the nation, puts the blame for the metallurgical conflict on "the state of mind produced by the scandalous spectacles of the immoral and tragic extravagances of the war and the inexorable and continuous greed of speculators."

After referring to disastrous conditions in communist Russia, a statement issued by party leaders concludes by expressing disbelief in state-owned industries, but says there is hope the present revolutionary movement of metal workers will result in victory over the "egotistic and exploiting spirit" and a proportional division of business between capital and labor.

Tomorrow Critical Day

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Friday will be a critical day in the history of the movement of Italian metal workers, says the Milan correspondent of the Herald, organ of labor. If no decision is reached by Friday, the correspondent says, immediate action may be taken by workers.

"The ultimate aim of the Federation of Metal Workers, as well as the Confederation of Labor," he declares, "is socialization of industry and this aim, now almost within their grasp, may at any moment overshadow claims for wages. Friday may well see an extension of the soviet principle to other industries of Italy."

60 Autos Lost in Spectacular Fire

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—A spectacular fire, caused by exploding gas tanks, destroyed 60 automobiles in a storage warehouse in 54th street early today. The flames threatened to spread to nearby tenements. Fifty families were driven into the streets.

McADOO OPPOSED TO MODIFICATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of light wines and beer would ultimately destroy the entire prohibition amendment, William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, declared in a prepared statement made public last night. He added he believed "a modifying clause would make every tunc room, drug store and soda fountain a saloon, encourage youth to drink and bring a curse upon the country greater than war."

"Prohibition means prevention," he continued, "it does not mean license in any form. To permit the sale of light wines and beer is to open a crack in the door of prevention, and once the crack is open the door is wide. It is impossible to administer a light wine and beer law in such a manner as to prevent the greatest abuses."

"Brewers and wine merchants know such a modification would destroy the prohibition amendment. To restore the liquor faction to political power would be to re-establish liquor trafficking in the worst form."

NOTED SUFFRAGIST ISSUES STATEMENT

Mrs. Annie M. Sloan, of Buffalo, Declares She Would Not Take All the Money in the World for Good Tanlac Did Her

One of the distinguishing features in connection with the introduction and phenomenal popularity of Tanlac is the large number of prominent men and women who have come forward with their unqualified endorsements of the medicine because of the benefits they have derived from its use.

One of the latest additions to this list is the name of Mrs. Annie M. Sloan, residing at 275 Huntington avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

MRS. ANNIE M. SLOAN
Prominent Buffalo, N. Y. Club Woman and Suffragist

Mrs. Sloan has resided in Buffalo for the past 16 years and is one of the most prominent club women of Buffalo, being an active member of the Buffalo City Club, the Lincoln Republican Club, and the Women Voters League.

She represented the women of her city in their appeal to the United States senate at Washington when the suffrage bill was first introduced, and was honored with a membership to the Washington Suffrage Club. Mrs. Sloan is also deeply concerned in church and charity work. Her statement regarding the benefits she has derived from Tanlac will be of widespread interest. She said:

"I have only been taking Tanlac for about four weeks, but I am already feeling better than I have in years. Why, it just seems as though I have been awarded a new lease in life and I would be doing an injustice to others who are trying to find relief not to tell them what this grand medicine has done for me."

"Some years ago I was compelled to undergo an operation for gall stones, after which I got along very well until about a year and a half ago when I was taken down with a severe bilious attack. My appetite was abnormal; I would have an awful craving for food and eat until I was satisfied and then a little while get hungry again and feel faint. Such severe pains would come in my stomach and right side that I felt like they were killing me, and I became so nauseated that it worried me for fear I would break a blood vessel."

"These attacks became frequent and with each one I had to remain in bed for four or five days. About six weeks ago I had one of these attacks and was in such awful pain that I gave up hope and thought my time had come. This spell left me without any energy and so weak I could hardly walk across the room."

"I could almost see the operating table staring me in the face again, but I had such a fear of another operation that I dreaded the very thought of it. For Tanlac, I decided to try the medicine."

"Feeling so many fine testimonials came myself. Well, after I finished taking my first bottle I noticed a wonderful improvement."

"My pains have all disappeared now, my appetite has been regulated, and I have not had a bilious spell or felt nauseated since I began taking Tanlac, four weeks ago. I just seem to be brimful of new strength and energy and never have that tired, weak feeling any more. I'll just say frankly I think Tanlac is perfectly wonderful, and I wouldn't take all the money in the world for the good it has done me."

"Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens Drug Store, Merrimack square, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

Sure relief

The sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia, and biliousness, needs to warning to avoid the many worthless, so-called "cures" that are offered, often containing harmful drugs. In vain, these various preparations have been tried, frequently leaving the system weaker than before.

The true "L.F." Atwood's Medicine brings quick relief without the risk of injurious after-effects. Instead of a temporary improvement, at the expense of weakening some vital organ, it helps the entire digestive apparatus, tones the stomach, and establishes a general healthy condition. Taken regularly, the physical improvement which will result, will also overcome the fear of a new attack.

"L.F." can be given with perfect safety to every member of the family. It has been a family health-restorer for 60 years; its friends are steadfast. You can buy a large bottle (100 centesimal doses) from your druggist for 50 cents.

LABOR UNION MAY BUY HOTEL BUILDING

It was rumored today that negotiations are on by the Loomis' union for the purchase of the Park hotel building in City Hall avenue. This building, which is of brick, is four stories high, the lower floor consisting of a large place of business, the second and third being divided into rooms, while the fourth story is an assembly hall.

For a great many years the Loomis' union has held its meetings in Carpenter's hall, Rutens building, but a few months ago when the unions were leased out the assembly hall in the Park hotel building, where it now meets. The Loomis' union has a membership of over 400 and it is said its financial condition is excellent.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

There's something on that bill at the B. F. Keith theatre this week which will interest everybody. The Salon Singers prove as fetching a straight musical act as the new season has given us, and the Havel Brothers, Arthur and Morton, will purvey a comedy novelty that is all to the good. Julia Nash, a splendid actress, and C. H. O'Donnell, in "The Most Single," have a comedy that holds very bright conversation and some good scenes, and Joel Dooley is a comedian who looks at home with the larrikin in dance, song and comedy. One of the biggest hits of the bill is scored by Margaret Ford, a singer who owns to possessing a baritone as well as a soprano voice. Other acts on the bill are: Redford & Winchester, comedy jugglers; and Green & Myra, in a mixture of violin playing, songs and dancing.

OPERA HOUSE

Miss Marguerite Fields, leading woman with the Lowell Players at the Opera House, has been possessed of even more personal charm than last year, and her work, judging from the efforts put forth in this week's opening bill, indicates that she has lost none of her artistic and exceptional talents as an actress. In Milton Byron, as leading man, the management has secured the services of a young man who promises to win favor with the patrons from the very start. If his work this week in "Civilian Clothes" is to be taken as a criterion, it is a foregone conclusion, even at this early date, that he will be extremely popular with the playgoers of Lowell and vicinity. The other new members of the cast are also winning favor all along the line.

THE HILLO

The Hillo will offer, as its super-feature today and the remainder of the week, "The Family Honor," a First National attraction in seven parts. This is King Vidor's great picture, and it shows the inside workings of small town politics, really are not so different from the brand in the big politics. The may of a town while only belonging to a party league, is in league with the underworld elements. "The Family Honor" gives the beautiful romance of a southern girl, and there is shown into it the defeat of the mayor who plays both ends and the middle. Doris Kenyon, in "The White Trail," is one of the prettiest girls in the films and she is cast in a story of the Klondike. Other features of the last three days are Larry Semon in "Solid Concrete," episode 3 of King Baggot in "The Hawk's Trail" and a Fox News.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Paramount-Artcraft week is proving a decided hit at the Merrimack Square Theatre and the collection of offerings which Manager Nelson has assembled for the second half of the week bears the leading stamp of excellence. The leading feature is in Rose's "Daughter," from the celebrated novel by Mrs. Humphrey Ward, starring Eslie Ferguson. This is easily one of the most charming plays of the season and presents Miss Ferguson in an exceptionally attractive role. Another feature is "The Scandal Killers" round out a strong bill.

THE STRAND

As Marjorie Meadows, the heroine of "The Chorus Girl's Romance," one of the three big features on the bill at the Strand for the last three days of the week, beginning with matinee today, Viola Dana proved to have found one of her most charming characterizations. Her demonstration of the fact that the dainty and charming young star possesses two of the most irresistible shimmers on or off the screen, "The Scandal Killers," originally published in the Saturday Evening Post under the title "Lead and Shoulders," affords the film favorite wonderful opportunity to reflect new talent as well as her exceptional personal charm. Above everything else, it gives Viola a chance to shimmer. Don't miss this effort of demonstrating her unusual ability in the tersest and art. She certainly shames a mean pair of shoulders.

"See 'Come to Jim,' one of Will Rogers' latest film efforts, is an adaptation of J. G. Holland's best entitled "Seven Paks." Mr. Rogers' personality is brought out to the greatest advantage, and his characterization of the principal role is among his best interpretations. Besides having lots of good humor to it, the picture story is one of the strongest human interest and dramatic endeavors that Rogers has ever appeared in. Jimmie Rogers, son of the star, and Irene Rich are included in the engaging cast.

And last but not least, Larry Semon, the new screen comedy king, in "Solid Concrete," is the third feature. This comedy creation has many new angles of fun-making that make it rich in good humor. A new weekly is also shown.

Has Faith in Concrete Houses as Big Factor in Solving Housing Problem

ONE OF MISS GLEASON'S MODEL CONCRETE HOMES

BY EDWIN D. RIDER
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 9.—A woman is leading the way in Rochester's fight for adequate housing—she's an engineer, a master machinist, society woman, banker and a leader in Rochester's chamber of commerce, too! She is Miss Kate Gleason.

All her life Miss Gleason has been a trail-blazer—she has led and Rochester has followed.

She has enjoyed breaking down traditions and entering fields of endeavor hitherto barred to women. When but a girl she entered her father's machine factory as an apprentice. Later she attended the Cornell engineering school.

Miss Gleason is now engaged in her first venture in home building—the erection of 100 cozy little concrete houses. Each house is 20 by 20 feet, two stories, with a garage in the basement.

Add Beauty

The difference between these houses and the Edison and Ingersoll concrete houses is that the latter were simply large concrete boxes, while Miss Gleason never has lost sight of beauty in her design. Her houses are an adaptation of the Dutch colonial style.

Each has an attractive fireplace, an "L" shaped living and dining room, small, but compact and completely equipped kitchen, full basement, which includes garage, furnace, coal room and laundry, bath room on the second floor, three bedrooms and a 50-foot lot.

Miss Gleason designed the house and then had special molds and pouring apparatus constructed. She says the standard concrete apparatus now on the market is unsuitable for the building of small houses.

Manufacturing Process

It would not pay to build one concrete house, she has learned.

"House building must be made a manufacturing process, not an individual, jobbing proposition," says Miss Gleason. "Building of concrete houses is advisable only in groups where your apparatus can be moved easily. Then, too, you cannot evade the human element in house building or any other business."

The kitchen is completely furnished with the exception of pots and pans. It contains a kitchen cabinet, refriger-erator, gas stove, sink, mixing cauld, laundry and electric ventilator.

Economy of Space

Economy of space is the dominant thing in Miss Gleason's unique concrete houses, with beauty running a close second.

The walls are eight inches in width and the floors four inches thick. Each floor is eight feet in height. The houses are built around a hill in terraces, each row eight feet above the other.

Three men can pour the concrete for a house in the time it would take 18

MISS KATE GLEASON

men ordinarily. It is difficult Miss Gleason explained, to estimate how much time is required on one house because she's building 100 and placing the proposition on a manufacturing scale. However, the first house was completed in a little more than two months and now three a week are turned out.

Many Honors

Here are just a few of the honors which have come to this woman:

In 1914 she was elected to active membership in the American Society of Engineers, the first woman to become a member.

She was elected president of the First National bank of East Rochester in 1918. Miss Gleason was then the only woman bank president in the United States.

The Rochester chamber of commerce broke its rule against admitting women in 1916 and made her a full-fledged member.

Now Miss Gleason is devoting all her time to the building of concrete houses. She has faith in them as a big factor in solving America's housing problem. She is selling her concrete houses—with a 50-foot lot, garage and furnished kitchen, for $4000.

COAST GUARD DEFENSE

The recruits for the Coast Guard defense are now stationed on the South common ready to sign up any men desirous of service in that branch of the army. Last night the rays of the million candle power searchlight were being dashed through the sky above the city and attracted considerable attention. The party is also equipped with a moving picture outfit and a C.A.C. band full of pep and harmony. There are 30 men in the party outside of the members of the band.

AUTOS IN COLLISION

An automobile operated by Thomas Gearin of 450 Merrimack street, this city, and a machine driven by Edward B. Billings of Providence collided on the Boston road near Sprague bridge in Billerica late yesterday afternoon. One of the Gearin children was slightly injured and the damage to the cars was not great.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

SCHOOL BEGINS

If you were to walk into the Meadow Grove school you'd probably be very much surprised at the various kinds of "seats" for the children. Bertie Bat was hanging by his feet from a stick; Orrie Owl, Oscar's middle-sized son, was snooking in a cozy hole in the tree; Freddie Frog was squatting in a cool puddle; Star Ann Spider was lounging comfortably in her web, with an interested eye on Buddie Blue Bottle, and the Mole and Mouse children

"We'll now have reading," he announced. Nancy was busily making a dunce cap, and Nick was out hunting up the Bunny girls who were away that day. Everything was very quiet, except for the rustling of the pages, as the pupils hunted the place. "Don't thumb over your leaves that way," said Scribble Scratch, "it bends them and makes dog-ears." Everybody shivered and looked to-

were sitting with one foot in a convenient hole, ready to follow with the rest of themselves if Smarty Skunk or Wisp Weasel got hungry while they were passing the slates.

The rest of the children were sitting up obediently on stones of various shapes and sizes, but you may imagine that Greenie Grasshopper's seat in no-wise resembled the one occupied by fat Wally Woodchuck. Sammie Snake, Jr., was in his element, curled up like a watchspring, on top of a nice flat rock, wondering how far he could stretch when the teacher's back was turned and if Terry Toad studying his spelling tasted as good as he looked.

Mr. Scribble Scratch, the fairy schoolmaster, hammered on his desk (forgetting that it was the Magical Mushroom) and the school came to order.

ward the door.

"Sport Squirrel," went on the master. "Please read where it says, 'I see a cat.'" Everybody jumped again.

"Oh," piped Floppy Field Mouse with a start. "This—is no place for me." (Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

CULLING DEMONSTRATION

About 40 people from various sections of the town attended the demonstration on poultry culling, which was held at the poultry plant of John B. Wilson in Chelmsford yesterday. The demonstration was under the direction of C. B. Wilson, county agent for the Middlesex farm bureau, and was arranged by Karl M. Perham, the Chelmsford representative of the bureau. The speaker was Prof. Monahan of the Massachusetts Agricultural college.

SURPRISE PARTY
A very pretty surprise party was held at the home of Miss Helen Sheehan, of 101 Bourne street, Monday evening. Miss Sheehan was very pleasantly surprised by her many friends. An enjoyable program was carried out as follows: Skit dance by Gladys Gleason; piano selection by Vera Gleason; butterfly dance by Baby Grace Ledford; Russian dance by Gladys Doney; song by John Yunick; piano selection, by Helen Sheehan; reading entitled "Midnight March" by Meta Grayballa; poppy dance by Vera Gleason; comic song by William Meylan; Irish jig by Anna Letford; reading entitled "Homage to Erin," by Ethel Hartigan and Irish Lilt by Gertrude Shea. Refreshments were served by the Misses Catherine Tucker, Helen Healy and Christina Cameron. The party broke up after thanking Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan for their kind hospitality.

GOOD GAME ON THE SOUTH COMMON

The Knights of Columbus nine and a team from Fort Warren, Boston, played a very good game on the South common last evening, much to the entertainment of several thousand spectators. The game resulting in a tied score of 6 to 6.

At the close of the contest the soldiers expressed a desire to play off the tie one week from Saturday.

The Fort Warren team proved to be particularly snappy and showed that they knew the game from a to z. Their pitcher threw an underhand ball that floated up to the plate and worried the Lowell players for some considerable time.

Dolan started to pitch for the K. of C. but had to yield to Cawley because of a sore arm. Cawley in turn had to give the mound back to Dolan because of similar trouble.

One of the longest drives ever seen on the common was made by Shortstop Hannan of the Coast Defense team. He sent the ball past the fielders and over the end of the pond and jogged home. Marcotte of the local team knocked another homer in the same direction, but it was not quite as hard as that of Hannan. Lynch made another pretty hit to the limits of the field but failed to score. Crowe, third baseman for the knights, made a catch of a hot liner in the first inning and was awarded by the spectators, who applauded generously. The score:

GRAND CIRCUIT

Tommy Murphy Big Winner in Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 9.—Tommy Murphy was the big winner of the third day of the Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak Park yesterday, driving three of his four entries in the four events to first money and getting fourth money with the other.

Murphy drove John Henry to a win in the 2.04 pace; Arion Guy to first money in the Acorn purse for three-year-old trotters eligible to the 2.20 class and Dar Hyal to a three-heat victory in the 2.15 trot, winning the last two heats after Greed had won the first because of Dar Hyal's bad break.

Bunnington, with Valentine in the money in the only upset of the afternoon by winning the 2.14 trot from Let Fly, the favorite.

Arion Guy that Murphy drove to an impressive win in the colt race, made her debut yesterday afternoon, never having raced before.

IF WOMEN VOTE WHY SHOULDN'T THEY CHEW?

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 8.—A woman asked W. M. Scott, a policeman, how to reach an address. Scott told her.

"Thanks," said the woman, and reaching into a pocket of her coat, took out a plug of tobacco and bit off a chew. Scott arrested her on a charge of disturbing the peace.

In municipal court yesterday, Judge John M. Kennedy dismissed the case. "If women may vote, why shouldn't they chew?" inquired the judge.

DOROTHY FROOKS

HER CAMPAIGN ATTRACTS ATTENTION

NEW YORK, N. Y.—This woman, Miss Dorothy Frooks of Saugerties, N. Y., is making folks sit up and take notice by her independent campaign to win the republican nomination for representative in congress from the 27th congressional district. During the war she served as chief yeoman in the navy and also was a Liberty loan speaker. She is a member of the American Legion.

Ten European nations engaged in the world war have shown a potential loss in population of 35,320,000 persons.

A MOTHER'S TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE

West Buxton, (Me.)—To read of Mrs. Arthur Campbell's experience is harrowing. Imagine her feeling—she writes: "I am a mother of five children. My little girl two years old was so sick with fever she lay just as if she were dead for two weeks. I started giving her Dr. Tru's Elixir and she began to gain at once. Now I would not be without it. I feel very grateful to you."

No doubt this child had some stomach trouble due to worms. Scores of children have worms and their mothers don't know the trouble.

Symptoms of worms: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly, with pain about the navel, pale face, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose and rectum, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points on the tongue, starting during sleep, sleep fever.

Dr. Tru's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a family laxative and Worm Expeller, since 1851.—Adv.

STRICT NEUTRALITY OBSERVED IN W. VA.

BY RUSS SIMONTON, N.E.A. Staff Correspondent

WILLIAMSON, West Va.—Mingo county in the Blue Ridge Mountains, is in the United States and Colonel Samuel Burkhardt, Jr., and 453 federal soldiers are here to prove it.

This is the heart of the West Virginia coal country.

Further, it is the battleground where two armies are testing the validity of a clause in the Declaration of Independence—that clause which declares all men free and possessed of a right to the search for happiness.

On the one side are the mountaineer miners, gaunt, lanky men to whom the squirrel rifle is a handy tool than the miner's pick, and on the other, hired spies and gunmen commanded by the West Virginia coal barons.

Now Uncle Sam has become a silent, watchful bystander, determined that the struggle between the miners, who say they have a right to join unions, and operators who say they alone have the right to organize, shall not continue at the cost of blood.

"We're Neutral"

"We're neutral," the lean-faced commander of the battalion of infantry from Camp Sherman, Colonel Burkhardt, told me. "We have no brief for either side, but there will be law and order."

It was a sudden increase in the mortality rate of defense witnesses in the case of alleged murder to be prosecuted next week against 24 miners and citizens of Matewan, nine miles from here, who may or may not have had a part in a pitched battle between Baldwin Felts' mine detectives and miners last May that caused federal troops to be brought here.

Seven private coal company detectives, the mayor of the town and three citizens were killed in street fighting which began when the detectives tried to arrest Chief of Police Sid Hatfield of Matewan, when he opposed the eviction of miners' families from their homes. The evictions were not "according to law," the miners held.

One of Principals

Sid Hatfield, chief of police of Matewan, is a principal in the murder case. The hired guards say he killed one of the Felts brothers.

His brother, Anse Hatfield, was a witness to the street battle. He would have been a defense witness, but the other day "they got Anse." He ignored a warning sent him by mail to leave the town "dam sudden."

A dozen or more other witnesses for the defense were "marked" men, having received warnings to leave. Then Governor John J. Cornwall ordered his own state troops from the field and asked for federal soldiers.

JOHNSON ESCAPES FROM MEXICAN BANDIT.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 9.—Bertie Johnson, a British subject, who was kidnapped by Pedro Zamora, Aug. 1, has escaped from the bandits and on his way to Guadalajara under escort of government troops. It was announced at the war department is right. D. W. Gardiner, an American citizen, who also was a captive, Zamora, has arrived at Talpa, state Jalisco, on his way to Guadalajara. "Announcement is made at the war department that the Mexican government is purchasing 40,000 rifles from England and Germany, with which equip the army, which is being reorganized. A campaign against laws especially those who have been preying on paymasters in the petroleum region is to be begun. It is announced.

LT. COL. ROOSEVELT NARROWLY ESCAPED

JOPLIN, Mo., Sept. 9.—Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt had a narrow escape from death here yesterday while preparing for an airplane flight to Vinita, Okla., to fill speaking dates. The plane ran away with Col. Roosevelt before the pilot had boarded it, but he managed to jump from the fuselage and land free of the rudders. Col. Roosevelt was entering the front seat of the plane in which Bert Chandler, candidate for congress from the First Oklahoma district, was sitting while Paul Meng, the pilot, gave the propeller blade a twist. The throttle was too high and the big machine tore wildly around the field. The plane struck a high place in the ground and up-ended burying its nose in the ground. Chandler was severely shaken up and bruised, but not seriously hurt. The pilot had made a flying leap for the rear fuselage and was hanging on with his hands attempting to pull himself into the car when the machine turned over. Roosevelt was calm and smiling over the incident. A few minutes later he and Chandler entered another plane and flew away for Vinita.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR POLISH FORCES

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Russian Bolshevik forces fighting against the Poles southwest of Brest-Litovsk, have evacuated the city of Hrudieszw, 30 miles west of the Bug river, under pressure from Polish troops, says an official Moscow statement received here by wireless. The statement admits soviet troops in that region have been withdrawn to the eastern bank of the Bug river.

MARGARET NEWBURGH
FIRST WOMAN TO VOTE
UNDER U. S. LAW

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Miss Margaret Newburgh holds the distinction of being the first woman in the United States to vote under the 19th amendment, made possible when Tennessee, the 36th and final state, ratified woman's suffrage. In a special municipal bond election she reached the voting booth at 6 a. m. Other women tried for the honor, but Miss Newburgh won the race.

YOUTH ADMITS MURDER OF M'KENNA GIRL

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 8.—Rolf Adams, 22 years old, World war veteran of East Providence, was last night arrested, charged with the murder of Rose B. McKenna last Thursday, and the shooting of William J. Deignan. According to the police Adams confessed to the shooting.

For the past week the cold-blooded shooting of the young woman, who was in an auto on the Barrington parkway with her fiancé, has been a complete mystery. Early yesterday the right search that has been conducted through the territory surrounding the scene of the crime yielded an army handkerchief which had been tied into knots and evidently hastily thrown away.

This was the first clue unearthed by the police who have been working on the theory that the murderer was either a jealous lover of Miss McKenna's or a gunman.

Also yesterday a young man told the Providence police that he, with a girl friend and another couple, had been at the spot where the shooting occurred two nights before the murder. One of the girls laughed in a high pitched voice and immediately a tall, thin man leaped out of the bushes and demanded of the astonished four what the girl was crying about.

He was immediately told that the girl had not been crying and that furthermore, if anything were troubling her, she had two men with her, quite capable of taking care of her. Hereupon the watcher said that the crying must be "cut out," and accompanied the remark with a threatening gesture. When one of the men started toward him he leaped again into the bushes.

Recognized the Man

One of the men in the party believed that he recognized the tall, thin man as Rolf Adams of East Providence. With this tip to work on, Inspectors Rogers, Hall and Bowen of the local police department, accompanied by men from the East Providence force, went to the Adams home at 130 Quarry street and arrested young Adams. According to the story told by the police, he immediately admitted the shooting, but said that he did not mean to shoot, though four shots had been fired.

He told the police that he did not know either Miss McKenna or Deignan. He said that he saw the car on the road, and that, masking his face with his handkerchief, he told the driver to "hold up your mitts."

Deignan, he said, made a movement as if he were going to pull a gun. Adams quickly raised his .45-caliber automatic pistol and, holding it at a level with his eyes, pulled the trigger. Then, Adams told the police, he ran, casting away his handkerchief and throwing the pistol into the river.

THIS NURSE ADVISES

Women Who Are Ill To
Take Lydia E. Pinkham's
Vegetable Compound.

East Rochester, N. Y.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for several years and think it fine. I am a practical nurse and when I get run down and nervous I take the Vegetable Compound. I also have trouble with my bladder when I am on my feet and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash relieves that. I have recommended your medicine to several young ladies who have all benefited by it."—Mrs. Anna L. Bennett, 306 Lincoln Rd., East Rochester, N. Y.

Young women who are troubled with neural or irregular periods, headache, dizziness, dragging-down sensations, feeling spells or indigestion should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

The letters constantly being published on women in every position of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This Blood-Builder Strengthens Nerves and Promotes Vigor

Many People Who Have Been Helped Now Recommend a
Reliable Remedy to Those Who Suffer

The season of the year is approaching which was marked by the ravages of the influenza epidemic of 1918 and 1919.

Both epidemics, with their toll of death and suffering, emphasized the fact that the most positive safeguard against disease is the bodily health and vigor which come from an abundant supply of rich, well-oxygenated blood. Influenza claimed those of low vitality, thin blood and weak nerves.

Worry, overwork, severe shock and improper nourishment will lower the bodily tone, upsetting the delicate balance we call health. Those who can read the early signs of thinning blood can generally arrest the decline before any of the more painful symptoms appear, but the disease creeps on so stealthily that it is frequently well advanced before it is discovered.

Among the early symptoms of decline are pallor, especially of the lips, a slight palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath after walking a short distance and a tendency to tire easily. Continued decline causes nervousness, irritability, depression, sleeplessness, headache and fainting spells.

If you want vigorous health, strong nerves and good blood begin treatment now with a tonic that has been used successfully in many families for generations. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and enable it to carry nourishment to enfeebled organs, nerves, muscles and tissues. This new blood will so tone the entire system that colds and epidemic diseases can get a foothold.

Proof of the value of the remedy is found in the statements of those who have used it.

Among those who are healthier and stronger today for having given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial is Mr. Joseph Marcott, of No. 12 Jordan Court, New Lebanon, N. H.

"My blood was very thin," says Mr. Marcott, "and I became so weak that for months I was barely able to do my work. I suffered especially from stomach trouble. After eating a meal I had sharp, burning indigestion pains for hours. Sometimes the pain continued into the night and I lost hours and hours of needed sleep."

"It was while I was in this condition and about ready to give up hope of regaining strength, that I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began the treatment. In a surprisingly short time the remedy began to help me and I was so pleased that I continued the treatment and in a few weeks found myself free from stomach trouble and able to eat a hearty meal without any painful after-effects. I sleep well now, have regained my strength and my blood is rich. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me and I am sure that they will help others who need a tonic."

After Effects of Influenza

Mrs. Henry H. Miller, who lives at No. 121 Elliott street, Brattleboro, Vt., strongly recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to everyone who has had influenza and feels the need of a tonic. She says:

"I had a bad attack of influenza and it seemed practically impossible for me to recover my strength. I was tired all the time and couldn't undertake any work without resting every few minutes. At times my condition was so bad that I had to go to bed and I also under the care of a nurse. I suffered from rheumatism, too, in my limbs and my head ached and I was very nervous."

"Years ago I had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they helped me so much then that I decided to give the remedy another trial. In a very short time I could see that the pills were helping me and soon I was able to do my own work without unusual exertion. Headaches no longer bother me, my nerves are stronger and I feel better than I have for some time. I cannot recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too strongly."

Neuralgia Pains Disappear

"I never again want to go through the terrible pain I experienced for weeks and weeks before I learned of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and found my work. I suffered especially from stomach trouble. After eating a meal I had sharp, burning indigestion pains for hours. Sometimes the pain continued into the night and I lost hours and hours of needed sleep."

"It was while I was in this condition and about ready to give up hope of regaining strength, that I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began the treatment. In a surprisingly short time the remedy began to help me and I was so pleased that I continued the treatment and in a few weeks found myself free from stomach trouble and able to eat a hearty meal without any painful after-effects. I sleep well now, have regained my strength and my blood is rich. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me and I am sure that they will help others who need a tonic."

After Effects of Influenza

Mrs. Henry H. Miller, who lives at No. 121 Elliott street, Brattleboro, Vt., strongly recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to everyone who has had influenza and feels the need of a tonic. She says:

"I had a bad attack of influenza and it seemed practically impossible for me to recover my strength. I was tired all the time and couldn't undertake any work without resting every few minutes. At times my condition was so bad that I had to go to bed and I also under the care of a nurse. I suffered from rheumatism, too, in my limbs and my head ached and I was very nervous."

"Years ago I had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they helped me so much then that I decided to give the remedy another trial. In a very short time I could see that the pills were helping me and soon I was able to do my own work without unusual exertion. Headaches no longer bother me, my nerves are stronger and I feel better than I have for some time. I cannot recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too strongly."

Neuralgia Pains Disappear

"I never again want to go through the terrible pain I experienced for weeks and weeks before I learned of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and found my work. I suffered especially from stomach trouble. After eating a meal I had sharp, burning indigestion pains for hours. Sometimes the pain continued into the night and I lost hours and hours of needed sleep."

worried a great deal over my son who had gone overseas with the American Expeditionary force and returned wounded. As I grew weaker and developed neuralgia and the pain was sometimes so great that I could do nothing but sit with my hands pressing down on my head. Finally I could not walk from bed to chair. I lost several pounds and became so nervous that I hardly knew what to do.

"One day I happened to read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. In a few weeks I felt a little stronger for my appetite improved. Very slowly the pain became less severe and the attacks of neuralgia less frequent. As I continued taking the remedy my strength returned, I gained weight and my nerves became stronger. I sleep well now and seldom have a headache. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for they helped me when nothing else that I tried gave me any relief."

State Fish Inspection Law

resented to the consumer. For the purpose of enforcing the law, regulations have been decided upon whereby with the assistance of a system of invoices and receipts the exact grade and quality of the fish can be truthfully represented and traced down the list from wholesaler and commission men through the retailer to the buying public. This is one of the prominent features of the regulations under which the act will be enforced. The dealer has the choice of marking his fish by signs or by truthfully distinguishing it by word of mouth. He must do either one of two of these things. The sections referring to the cold storage of fish are quite stringent, but seem to meet with little or no objection from the cold storage operators. Every concern carrying cold storage fish must have a sign to that effect, and fish which have been in cold storage may not, under the law, in any manner be represented or sold or advertised as fresh fish. The seller must also notify the purchaser, either by sign or word of mouth, whether the fish purchased is fresh or has been frozen. There are other regulations limiting the time cold storage fish may be held by the retailers, and a similar system of checks and invoices is arranged for, as in the case of fresh fish dealers. This, in brief, covers the act and regulations. During the past two months in a tour of various parts of the state, ob-

U. S. SENATOR WALSH TO AID HOLY CROSS

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 9.—Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts today accepted the chairmanship of an alumni committee which will conduct a campaign for a $1,000,000 fund for the expansion of Holy Cross college at Worcester through the erection of new buildings. Senator Walsh is a graduate of the school of the class of 1893. The expansion program was decided upon at a reunion of alumni at Worcester Labor day. The senator acceptance setting forth the assurance upon his time and energy, but never to discharge part of the debt he owes to his Alma Mater, not only for the advantages of education, but for the inspiration he received from the noble example of the men who were teachers in his day but whose successors are equally devoted to the cause of education.

A very enjoyable surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erwin, 182 Wilder street, Tuesday evening, when about 24 boys of the commercial class of St. Patrick's Academy gathered in honor of Charles Jr. and presented him a beautiful traveling bag, presentation being made by Brother Nilius. The Paragon of the class, who is a member of St. Patrick's Boys' School, furnished a very rare and enjoyable musical entertainment. Violin selections were given by Frank Deignan and Master Frank Riden, accompanied at the piano. Refreshments were served and the party broke up at a seasonable hour wishing the young man a very successful school year.

Many fish markets and methods of sales, the need of such a law has been briefly explained to you here has been evidenced.

Fish Masqueraded

Some fish which appeared to be below standard have been observed and also little or no attempt to distinguish between the grades has been noted, both as to price and quality. This is more noticeable in markets of the cheaper class than in others. In many types of markets, however, has been seen what at least can be termed evasion of truth in terms. For instance, lowly pollock is masqueraded as "Boston Bluefish," "Boston Bay Blues," and in some cases boldly and boldly labeled "Bluefish."

Catfish, because of its close affinity to the name of despised dogfish, and its own none too pleasant personal appearance, appears, nicely skinned and dressed on a white plate, and temptingly marked "Whitefish." Naturally the buyers think it is the whitefish of the Great Lakes. It can be truthfully stated, however, that the catfish is one of the most delicious eating of all our salt water groundfish.

In some markets Pacific halibut masqueraded as Eastern halibut and Pacific salmon as Eastern salmon. There is no question here, in these two cases, as to the quality of fitness for food, but the economic value of the new law is emphasized in that the unlawful substitution means from 5 to 10 cents a pound to the purchaser. The Pacific fish costing the dealers less in both instances.

The few cases are merely cited to show what this law, properly enforced, can do away with, to the benefit, financial and otherwise, of the consumer, and this also without detriment in any way to the honest dealer.

The slowness of the railroads in getting through cement shipments is holding up highway work in Lowell and the surrounding country. On Lawrence street, work on 100 yards of highway has been held up until more cement arrives. For the same reason nothing is now being done toward the completion of the bridge under construction at the intersection of Market, Suffolk, Lewis and Hanover streets. Unless a sufficient quantity of cement is received for finishing the work before the arrival of cold weather it will be necessary to close the highway at this point during the winter.

The two freight embargoes have not pressed so heavily upon the industries of Lowell as might have been the case for the reason, it is said, that business generally has been dull during the time that they have been in effect.

There are no embargoes in effect at the present time affecting outward bound freight. It is also announced that the railroads are now supplying cars in sufficient numbers to meet the requirements of shippers.

The plan of the chamber of commerce to establish through car routes to western cities for Lowell industries is believed to be one of the most important moves that has been made in a long time to afford better transportation facilities for the shipment of commodities out of the city.

Long on the Road

At the present time less than carload freight bound for western points is transshipped a number of times on route. As a consequence shipments for Chicago are often on the road for a month or six weeks or even longer. With through cars running to Chicago leaving Lowell every day except Sunday it is believed that the time of freight en route will be immediately reduced to a week or a few days at most and that when the system, if it is adopted, gets to running smoothly

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

The municipal council meets tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to consider the approval of monthly bills. An invitation will also be placed before the city fathers for their acceptance from Post 87, of the American Legion asking them to attend the three days carnival to be given by the legion in the Casino September 15, 16 and 17. Thursday night, September 16, will be municipal night.

cars will go through from Lowell to the Illinois metropolis in four days. Attention is called to the fact by Traffic Manager Whitcomb that the adoption of the new plan, and its later success if it is adopted, will depend entirely upon the use that is made of it by the business men of the city. It is known that there is sufficient freight originating in Lowell to furnish full loads for at least all of the through cars that it is proposed to start running. To keep the cars in operation, however, it will be necessary for shippers to so arrange their shipments that there will always be a sufficient supply of commodities to fill the cars.

A letter regarding the new plan, is sent out to Lowell business men by Traffic Manager Whitcomb tomorrow, that explains the proposition in detail reads as follows:

Details of the Plan

"Through the efforts of the traffic department, Chamber of Commerce, the Boston & Maine traffic department have agreed to establish a daily merchandise car Lowell to Chicago, a weekly car to St. Louis, a weekly car to Toledo, Ohio, and a bi-weekly car to St. Paul, Minn., providing that each car contains at least 12,000 lbs.

"In order to make this arrangement a success and give the shippers of Lowell this straight city car service which will avoid the transfer of freight en route, insure more prompt arrival and delivery of shipments to consignees at destination, it will be necessary to have shippers use the same route on their daily shipments Lowell to destination and the following routes are suggested:

Chicago, Ill.: Mondays—Erie Despatch, via Mechanicsville, or if embargoed via Campbell Hill.

Tuesdays—Lackawanna line, N.Y.C. St. L. via Mechanicsville, or if embargoed via Maybrook.

Wednesdays—Star Union line, via Mechanicsville, or if embargoed via Northampton.

Thursdays—C. P. Despatch, Wabash R.R. Del.

Fridays—N. Y. Central.

Saturdays—National Despatch.

St. Louis: Wednesdays—C. P. Despatch, Wabash R.R. Del.

Toledo, Ohio: Thursdays—N. Y. Central.

St. Paul, Minn.: Tuesdays—C. P. Despatch, M. St. P.S.S. Marie.

Saturdays—Merchants Despatch, N.Y.C. care of C.B. & Q.

Shipments From Western Avenue

"Shippers should take advantage of this arrangement by following the above routes and making sure that their shipments are taken to Western avenue freight house on the proper day. It is hoped that the arrangement can be put into effect the latter part of this month or the first of October and we would like to know if this arrangement meets with your views and if you are willing to co-operate by using this service.

"It should be understood that this arrangement will not interfere with present arrangement of ships located on private sidings, loading straight carload shipments on their sidings. If this is a matter that should be called to the attention of your self-ing agents or consignees on account of their controlling the routings will you please take up with them promptly to see if they will not so place their shipping instructions with you to take advantage of this arrangement? It is felt that this service if successful will be something that the shippers of Lowell have never had before and will avoid the transportation difficulties encountered during the last year or more."

To Keep Truck Lines Open

It is understood that the state highway department has purchased a number of snowplows to be used in keeping the roads in condition for travel next winter. Tentative plans have been formulated at the chamber of commerce for having one of these plows assigned for keeping the route open between this city and Boston, over which a large quantity of freight moves by truck. The plan contemplates the calling into service of the trucks owned by local concerns for use in drawing the plows. Practically all of the principal truck owners of the city have expressed their willingness to co-operate in such a movement. If the plan is carried out, as soon as a snow storm that promises to be serious starts, an official of the highway department in Boston will communicate with the chamber of commerce and a truck will be assigned to the work of hauling the plow. The plow will be under the supervision of an employee of the highway department.

Sullivan abandoned his attempt, however, at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon. He was then within two miles of the French coast.

WRANGLER SMASHES ON

Within 12 Miles of Alexandrovsk, Headquarters of Field Staff of Soviet Army

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 8.—(By Associated Press) General Wrangel, head of the anti-Bolshevik forces in South Russia, is within 12 miles of Alexandrovsk, the headquarters of the field staff of the 13th Soviet army, despatches received today report.

Many of the Soviet soldiers captured by General Wrangel's troops had been sent to the southern front from Siberia and the outlying provinces. They are of unkempt appearance and clothed in rags with shoes made of untanned horsehide. The men have long, shaggy beards and great patches of hair, and when fed, ate ravenously.

When asked why they were fighting, the prisoners answered: "We could not help it. We were made to fight."

20 PERCENT CUT IN WOOL CLOTH PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—An approximate cut of 20 per cent in wool cloth prices by the American Woolen Co. was noted at the American Woolen Co.'s opening of its fall exhibit here today, according to the Textile World Journal.

The cut, said to be less than anticipated by the trade, was attributed to the fact that there has been little demand for woolen goods.

GOVERNMENT BONDS GOOD INVESTMENT

The following inquiry was recently received from a reader of the Sun: "Is it true that Lowell's savings banks have lost over $20,000 in the decline in value of United States government bonds?"

The question was laid before one of the officials of the Lowell Institution for Savings this morning for answering. He stated that the Lowell savings banks now own considerable quantities of government bonds, large investments having been made during the Victory and Liberty loan drives. These bonds have shrunk considerably in value since they were purchased. It is impossible, it was stated, to tell the quantity of government bonds owned by the city savings banks at the present time or whether they have depreciated in market value to the extent of $20,000. Any apparent loss to the banks as the result of the fall in market quotations, it is claimed, exists only on paper. The bonds continue to be one of the most reliable investments in the world. No one questions but that they will be paid in full at maturity. In the meantime they are paying interest at prescribed intervals. The official of the Lowell Institution for Savings pointed out that savings banks are continuing to buy government bonds at the present time as an evidence of their confidence that they are an attractive investment.

QUAKE DEATH LIST GROWS

Latest Advices From Fivizzano Bring Total of Dead There Up to 423

124 Dead in Vignatta and About 1000 Injured—10,000 People Homeless

FLORENCE, Italy, Sept. 9.—(By Associated Press)—The number of dead from Tuesday's earthquake is steadily growing, as additional reports come in. The latest advices from Fivizzano bring the total of dead there alone up to 245, while in Vignatta 124 are dead and about 1000 injured.

In nearly three score towns and villages serious damage was done and a total population of more than 10,000 rendered homeless.

Signor Micheli, the minister of agriculture, is visiting the outlying mountainous districts and giving all the assistance possible.

King Views Ruins

FIVIZZANO, Sept. 6.—(By courier to Florence)—King Victor Emmanuel of Italy today viewed the ruin visited upon this city by the earthquake. He went into every quarter of the town and entered buildings whose crumbling walls threatened to fall if another tremor should come, and talked with survivors, expressing his profound grief over the misfortune that had befallen them and comforting the injured.

Years of war and of national stress, have added the Italian sovereign. His hair is much grayer than it was when he first visited the front where his troops were holding the rocky mountain ridge against the Austrians. His whole figure seems to reflect the weight of care as well as the passing of time.

Still he retains his kindly glance and in the midst of desolation he was calm today as he picked his way over fallen buildings. He was accompanied by the king of Italy and thought only for his people. Learning that some of the survivors had not tasted food for 36 hours because of the ruin and disorder resulting from the disaster, he ordered that all food in his private car be distributed among them.

During his walk, the king approached a structure upon which was lying an aged woman and gently touched her forehead. The woman opened her eyes and recognized the gray uniformed figure before her as that of the monarch. Her eyes filled with tears and she struggled to kiss his hand, sobbing: "My little grandsons, my little grandsons."

Inquiry from Victor Emmanuel elicited the information that the woman's entire family with the exception of herself and the two small sons, had been buried in their home and killed. When the monarch promised to look after the children, joy shone through the tears in the eyes of the sufferer and she murmured: "May the madonna bless you. You are, indeed, good to me. You are a real father to your people."

Tomorrow Critical Day in History of Movement—Government to Act

ROME, Sept. 9.—Efforts continue to bring about a solution of the situation which has arisen throughout Italy as a result of the movement among metal workers to occupy plants in many of the most important industrial centers. The government has been called upon to intervene but so far has been neutral.

Strike Deadlocked—Body of Man Alleged to Have Been Strike Breaker Found

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—With a deadlock apparently reached in the strike of Brooklyn Rapid Transit company employees, more violence was reported today, the 12th since the walkout began. The company has asked for greater police protection.

Reports were received at police headquarters that the body of a man alleged to have been a strike-breaker, had been found in Coney Island creek; that alleged attempts to short circuit currents had resulted in several coaches and railroad ties catching fire and that break switches had been pulled near the Brighton beach elevated terminal in Coney Island.

The police also were investigating reports that a piece of gas pipe had been found attached from an overhead trolley wire to a rail and that the wire melted after a short circuit fell into the street with a roar.

South Walker Street Boy Seriously Injured Today

Edward Flanagan, aged about 12 years and residing at 110 South Walker street, is in a very serious condition at St. John's hospital as a result of an accident, which occurred near his home shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon. As far as could be learned the boy was riding on an automobile truck and when a point near his home was reached, he jumped from the machine and fell on his head. The ambulance removed him to the hospital, where it was stated later that the boy was suffering from a fracture of the skull and his chances for recovery were slight.

NEW STATE FISH INSPECTION LAW

Explained at City Hall This Afternoon By State Inspector Millett

Says Law Is Intended to Protect Public and Honest Dealers

At a public meeting at the city hall, this afternoon, State Inspector of Fish, Arthur L. Millett, told the story of why the new state fish inspection law means better fish food for the public, how under the provisions of the new law the purchaser is protected from misrepresentations and poor fish and how General H. C. L. will be hit a body blow on the left flank as a result of the appearance of more fish on the weekly bill of fare in the average home, which will come, he claims, after public confidence in the quality of fish is restored through the living up to the provisions of the law.

In speaking of the new law and the benefits which will come from it, the inspector said it had to do with furnishing the public the opportunity of buying only good fish and with knowing exactly what they are buying, and on this is based the assumption that, with this achievement, public confidence in the use of fish as a food staple will be greatly increased, thereby bringing about an increased demand for, and consumption of, Massachusetts caught fish, to the end that the time-honored one-fish-day-a-week will be relegated to the discard and that two and even three fish days may become the rule and not the exception in the food week program of every family.

Confidence in Fish

It is a big subject by itself. It is contended that if the public mind can be educated to the fact that in buying fish it is buying only good fresh or frozen fish and that the dealer is, under the law, not allowed to expose for sale fish unfit for food (as has too often been the case), and also that the purchaser is just what grade of fish he is buying, all in truthful terms, either by printed signs or word of mouth, it is contended and it would seem reasonably so, that a state of confidence will be set up in the minds of the buying public with the inevitable result that this same public will buy more fish, will eat more fish, and that the average home will have more fish days and that fish as a food staple will come into its own. This is the groundwork of the act.

Protects the Public

It should be emphasized right here, that this new law imposes no burden. It does, however, protect the public and also the honest dealer. Because it will lead to increased consumption of fish, it will be a direct financial benefit to the dealer and also by reason of some of the provisions cannot fail, it would seem, to make several lines of fish cheaper than at present to the consumer.

Briefly, the bill, which affects both wholesale and retail dealers in fresh and frozen fish and also, in a lesser degree, dealers in salt fish, provides for the following salient points:

All fresh fish must be divided into three grades before being offered for sale or placed in cold storage. Naturally the first is to be known as "new fish," while the term "off-shore" fish will designate the second grade fish. Under the law "fish of the third grade shall include all fish which are suitable for spitting or salting but are not suitable for sale as fresh fish," and also, fish of the third grade cannot be sold at retail for food.

Under the law only fish of the first two grades may be placed in cold storage, or offered or exposed for sale at retail for food.

Forbids Misrepresentation

The law provides for the designation of fish of the various grades, and also, that only truthful terms shall be used in the designation of fish respectively.

LOCAL TRAFFIC SITUATION

Embargo Lifted on Freight Coming Here Over the B. & M. Tracks

Proposition For Establishment of Through Car Lines to Western Cities

There were two important developments in the local traffic situation this morning. One was the receipt by Traffic Manager D. F. Whitcomb of the chamber of commerce of a letter from W. T. LaMoure, freight traffic manager of the Boston & Maine railroad, announcing that beginning at midnight last night freight began moving toward Lowell over the Boston & Maine tracks via Rotterdam Junction, Troy and Mechanicville, N. Y., an embargo that has been effective since August 28 having been lifted at that hour. Another development was the announcement by Mr. Whitcomb that plans have been perfected for submission to the manufacturers of Lowell of a proposition for the establishment of through car lines to a number of western cities of less than carload freight.

The embargo that was lifted last night was of the copper-riveted, air-tight variety that threatened serious consequences to the industries of the city if long continued. It placed an embargo on all freight bound for Lowell routed via the New York gateways of the Boston & Maine over the Delaware & Hudson and New York Central roads with the exception of coal for public utilities, livestock, perishables, railroad supplies and freight consigned to an officer of the United States government.

To Clear Up Congestion

The embargo was placed to enable the railroad to clear up a congestion of freight brought about by the necessity of handling large quantities of coal. When the embargo went into effect it was announced that practically no permits would be granted for getting freight past the designated points and this policy has been strictly followed.

With the three New England gateways of the Boston & Maine railroad wide open again it is believed that larger shipments of coal will soon begin to reach this city.

The embargo that went into effect on the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad Aug. 23 on freight bound into New England through the Harlem river, Maybrook and Campbell Hall gateways is still in effect.

Under the terms of the New Haven embargo considerable classes of freight are continuing to move freely.

CONTINUATION SCHOOL

Local Employers May Discharge Workers Between Ages of 14 and 16 Years

Rumors have reached the school department, it was stated by Superintendent Hugh J. Melloy this morning that in certain cases employers in this city have announced their intention to discharge any of their present workers between the ages of 14 and 16 years of age who will be compelled to attend the continuation school that is to begin its sessions in the high school annex September 20.

It is estimated that about 1000 girls and boys will be compelled to attend the school under the law which provides that the new educational facilities shall be provided. The law requires that all persons between the ages of 14 and 16 years of age shall attend school at least four hours a week during the time that the other public schools are in session.

The new school is to be in session from 1 to 5 p. m. every day except Saturdays and Sundays. It is planned to have the students attend one four-hour session each week.

The continuation school is to be under the supervision of Principal Thos. A. Ginty, who will be assisted by a corps of six men and six women teachers.

It is stated that in a number of cases that have been brought to public notice a very real hardship will result to families as the result of the loss of employment by boys and girls who are required to attend the continuation school. It is pointed out that the law of compulsory attendance, which is made to its operation. It is understood, however, that a number of public agencies have had the matter under consideration and that an effort will be made to provide places of employment for any boy or girl whose loss of employment as a result of the establishment of the school is likely to work a hardship upon dependents.

COX AT HELENA, MONT.

Arguments in Behalf of the League Adapted to Affairs of West Presented

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 9.—Arguments in behalf of the League of Nations adapted to affairs of the west, were presented here today by Governor Cox. He outlined what he declared were practical material benefits to flow from the league.

"It has recently been figured," said the governor, "that the cost of one battleship would reclaim two million acres of land."

"Multiply this by 48, the number of states, adopting the plan of one battleship for each state, and you have an staggering total, and if properly applied the answer to the problem of housing for our cities, the answer to the question of increased production for sustenance of human life. The expenditure required in total would reclaim 150,000 square miles of waste. It would build 10 permanently paved arteries entirely across the United States."

"Think of this in terms of reclamation of arid and waste lands, if you will, and think what it would mean to have one million men, exclusive of thousands required in shipyards and ammunition plants turning their activities to the production of the necessities of life rather than to employment in the creation of agencies for the destruction of life."

The governor's speech here, after a few more platform addresses en route, opened the final day of his Montana campaign. He came here from Great Falls, and was scheduled to speak late today at Anaconda and at Butte tonight.

Urging the league, Governor Cox told his Helena audience that the United States is looked upon "as a nation of quitters, prosperous and self-satisfied while our associates as well as our enemies in Europe are starving to death."

"America cannot enter into the period of prosperity to which we are entitled," he said "until the doubt and distrust and the growing hatred against us, created by the apostles of hate in the senatorial oligarchy have been removed."

Governor Cox also inveighed against a separate peace with Germany and urged world disarmament.

DEMPSEY ON WAY TO NEW YORK

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Jack Dempsey, accompanied by Manager Jack Kearns, and newspaper correspondents, left yesterday for New York where Kearns hopes to close matches with Gus Bost Smith, San Francisco heavyweight, and Billy Brennan of Chicago. The match with Smith is tentatively set for Boston on Sept. 15. Dempsey's contest with Brennan, probably will be held in New York.

While Dempsey was preparing to leave, he learned that Billy Miske, his opponent in the Labor day battle at Benton Harbor, Mich., was in the dining room having luncheon with Mrs. Miske. The champion immediately deserted his friends to find Miske. They chatted pleasantly for a few minutes and parted with a hearty handshake.

Before leaving Benton Harbor, Dempsey presented Mrs. Floyd Fleming, wife of the promoter of the fight, with a $10,000 automobile. Miske returned to his home in St. Paul today for a hunting trip.

WAS ASSAULTED AND ROBBED IN PELHAM

How he was held up, assaulted and robbed on the North bridge in Pelham last night about 7.30 o'clock and then pushed over the bridge railing into the river in his struggle with his two men assailants was told this morning by John A. McQuade of the Boston fish market of this city. Mr. McQuade was returning to this city after covering his route through Pelham and Windham when attacked, but by putting up a stiff fight with the two men prevented them from getting a large sum of money which he had in bills in his possession. His change bag, containing a few dollars in silver was taken, however.

In the struggle McQuade was cut about the head and was badly bruised about the body. His injuries were treated at Pelham Centre and then he returned to his home in this city. The police of surrounding cities and towns have been notified and Sheriff O'Dowd of Manchester, N. H., will conduct an investigation.

PERPETUAL CARE FUND Cemetery Commissioners Says Any Transfer for Transfer From Fund Will Be Promptly Turned Down

A meeting of the cemetery commissioners yesterday afternoon the opinion was expressed by Commissioner George H. Taylor, and concurred in by his associates, that any appeal from the sinking fund commission for a transfer of funds in the perpetual care fund of the cemetery department to meet a deficit caused by the sinking in value of securities held by the city, to be used for redeeming its bonds would be promptly turned down.

Previous to this expression of opinion a decision given by City Solicitor Regan was that in the decision. It was stated that the solicitor believes that the perpetual care fund is wholly under the supervision of the cemetery commission and that it can dispose of city treasure as to any disposition to be made of either the whole or any part of the fund. It was also stated that the commissioners have exclusive control over all matters pertaining to the city cemetery.

In discussing the decision, Chairman Rigby said that he had received numerous letters protesting against any transfer of the perpetual care fund. He read one such letter received from Lilla J. Jackson, of Malden, a lot owner.

Quake Death List Grows

searching the ruins for any victims who may still be alive, but the work is seriously handicapped by the difficulty experienced in reaching many of the ruined towns, which are situated in the mountains and are almost inaccessible. Electric light wires have been broken and work in the ruins must stop at nightfall.

New shocks, but none of them of the intensity of the one which caused the widespread destruction early on Tuesday, have been felt in Florence and in the neighborhood of that city. These have shaken down tottering structures, however, and still further delayed the work of rescuers. Massacarrara, in the center of the earthquake zone, was cut off from communication with the outside world last night, but it is not believed a new catastrophe has occurred there.

The upheaval was especially terrific in the famous quarry district of Carrara, from which come the finest specimens of marble. Great rocks, dislodged by the shock, rolled down steep roads leading up into the hills, crushing everything in their path.

Many Killed in Church

A tragic and memorable scene was enacted at Marina, near Carrara, when the earthquake shattered a church where mass was being celebrated. Father Frigotti, the pastor, had just raised the chalice in the most solemn moment of the service when the ceiling of the edifice fell upon the congregation, killing many. The priest was struck by falling fragments of the ceiling and his hands and face were cut, but he reverently finished the service before attending to the injuries of those about him.

Less fortunate was Father Riccardo Bruscoletti at Castanzano, who was killed while celebrating mass. At Castel Nuovo Carignana, the wife of Deputy Dugoni was among the injured.

Pope Benedict sent a telegram to Cardinal Poir Maffi, archbishop of Pisa, asking him to go into the earthquake zone and administer aid and moral support and distribute supplies. Before the pontiff's telegram arrived, the cardinal had left for the devastated district.

50 Bodies Taken From Ruins

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Fifty dead victims of the Italian earthquake have been taken from the ruins of the town of Barga, says a despatch from Lucca to the Exchange Telegraph Co., the message adding that many more are buried in the debris. The village of Gradennara is a heap of ruins. Vignet has been destroyed and thousands are homeless at Tassallo, Cateletto, Montecatini and Cesciano.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad for Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulford's coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and heats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulford's at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply mix the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. RECOMMENDS INCREASE IN TEACHERS' SALARIES

BOSTON, Sept. 9.—The special commission on school teachers' salaries, appointed by Gov. Coolidge last December, reported yesterday that the increases thus far made have not kept pace with the cost of living, recommended higher minimum salaries and expressed its conviction "that if Massachusetts is to realize the largest return from its investment in education, salaries of teachers in the public schools must continue to increase, so as to accomplish the following purposes:

"First, to attract into the teaching profession capable young men and women in sufficient numbers to supply all vacancies with well-qualified teachers.

"Second, to retain efficient teachers now in service.

"Third, to guarantee that communities of low valuation as well as those of high valuation shall be able to secure and retain well qualified teachers; and

"Fourth, to enable all teachers to provide from salary earnings, the necessities of life, savings and insurance against disability and old age, as well as to make those investments that result in continued growth to professional efficiency."

1772 Teachers Resigned

"The teacher shortage throughout the country," says the report, "has appeared to show these results: First, the closing of schools; second, the employment of teachers with less than the usual qualifications; third, a decrease in the enrollment of teacher-training institutions. The facts disclosed by these inquiries show that very few schools in Massachusetts have been closed as a result of the teacher shortage. It appears that 1772 teachers, or 3.2 per cent. of the state's teaching force, terminated their employment in the schools of Massachusetts last year. Of these teachers, 17 per cent. left to teach in other states, notably the other New England states and New Jersey, and 20 per cent. left to enter other employment than teaching, chiefly commercial, industrial and domestic work. It is a fair presumption that a large majority of these two groups, comprising 644 teachers left our schools in order to accept more lucrative positions.

"Notwithstanding the large loss of teachers in 1919 and the increasing difficulty experienced by superintendents of schools in securing new teachers, Massachusetts has been more successful than many states in recruiting teachers to fill the vacancies arising. Enough teachers were secured to fill the vacancies occurring in 1919, and, in addition, to supply about 300 new teaching positions. Our investigations show, also, that the teachers employed in 1919 for the first time in the schools of the several towns and cities of the state, were as well qualified in respect to professional preparation as the teachers in service at the beginning of 1919 and for 1918. Furthermore, the steady improvement in the educational qualifications of the teaching force that has been evident for a number of years does not appear to have been arrested.

Standard Is Maintained

"After a study of conditions in all towns and cities of the Commonwealth, the commission is unable to find that there has been any appreciable closing of schools or lowering of the professional qualifications of teachers in Massachusetts. The relatively favorable showing for this state is in part due to the fact that very substantial increases in teachers' salaries have been made during the past few years, and particularly during 1919.

"The cost of living increased about 100 per cent. from 1910 to 1920, whereas the average salary of elementary school teachers increased $5.10 per cent. and that of high school teachers $0.7 per cent. during the same period. One of the most disturbing conditions which the commission has found in the course of its investigations is the decreasing enrollment in the state normal schools. If, as in 1919, 2000 new teachers are required for the coming school year, the Massachusetts normal schools, colleges, and private training schools are not likely to provide more than one-half that number. We shall again find it necessary to secure 1000 new teachers from other states and other employments than teaching. The commission is convinced that this situation calls for a concerted effort on the part of the school authorities to encourage young men and women of suitable personality and other qualifications to enter upon the work of teaching.

HARDING TO MAKE MORE SPEECHES OUT OF OHIO

ON BOARD SENATOR HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Sept. 9.—On his way home from his first campaign trip, Senator Harding, the Republican nominee for president, declared himself highly pleased today with his reception by the people of Minneapolis, who cheered his speech at the State Fair yesterday on agricultural issues and greeted him in tumultuous fashion when he rode through the streets of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

What the result might be on the future plans of the nominee was not revealed, but speculation as to the possibility of more extensive departures from the front porch was enlivened by expressions of satisfaction from two of the principal figures in management of his campaign. Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, head of the party's speakers' bureau, and Harry M. Daugherty, a member of the campaign committee, both of whom are in the senator's party.

"Minnesota and its splendid twin cities, and the state fair organization," Senator Harding said in a formal statement today, "seem to have vied with each other in providing a strenuous, enjoyable and completely satisfactory day for us. I shall not make the mistake of assuming that the great outpouring of people and the magnificent reception given us was merely a personal tribute. It was more than that and vastly more significant. It was the testimony that the people of this great state are completely in sympathy with the people of the country in determination to put America once more on the main highway of national progress and then to go ahead safely and along right lines."

"Perhaps the thing that most grati-

NEW YORK PHYSICIAN TELLS WHY MORE ORGANIC PHOSPHATE MEANS MORE NERVE VITALITY

The Nerves, the Blood, the Bones of Over 40% of American Men and Women Need Organic Phosphate and Need It Badly

A Vigorous Healthy Body and Keen Active Mind Belongs to Those Who Have Plenty of It.

When will weak, played-out, thin, puny and ambitious people learn that there is nothing much the matter with them and that all they need is a few grains of the right kind of phosphate every day for a few weeks to make them as energetic, vigorous and forceful as of old?

Every month, thousands of people are learning that lack of sufficient nerve vitality is the underlying cause of many diseases.

Your nerves control your body and without an abundant supply of nerve force life is worry, fear and disappointment.

Phosphorus is one of the vital elements of every living cell in your body and there are millions of them. Nature's way is to supply phosphorus to these cells with the food you eat in the form of organic phosphate.

But to millions of people modern foods do not supply enough organic phosphate, so there you are. And just for the lack of this same organic phosphate which every druggist sells under the name of "Eltro-Phosphate 40 per cent. and over of the men and women of America are today crying in the wilderness for health and strength and a chance to live a cheerful vigorous, helpful life.

Nerve weakness, both physical and mental, is indeed a curse to the nations," says a well-known New York physician.

"Feed your nerves the food that makes nerve force; that helps to rebuild every run-down, starving cell in your body."

"If I had my way Eltro-Phosphate should be prescribed by every doctor in the land," says Frederick M. Kelle, M.D., Editor-in-Chief of Physicians' "Who's Who," a nationally known author of medical text books and a brilliant physician.

Later on, Dr. Kelle says: "It is not difficult to detect women who have plenty of nerve vitality, nerves that are rich in organic phosphate" (this is equally true of men); "the women are usually cheerful, magnetic and pleasing; they have youth and vigor at 50 and even 60 years and are bubbling over with vitality. You don't find them pale, weak, nervous or haggard looking at 40 or complaining of this or that ailment."

Every day thousands of men and women who are losing their youth before their time; whose mental and physical powers are so limited that total discouragement is near, are learning that Eltro-Phosphate, a simple organic phosphate that A. W. Dows and Avery Druggist Dispensary, is all they need to re-establish nerve vitality, strength and keenness of mind.

Bolsheviki and Polish Envoys to Confer

WARSAW, Sept. 8. (By Associated Press.)—Letvia has given the necessary guarantees to the Russian soviet government, and as a result, a Bolshevik peace delegation will go to Riga to meet Polish representatives, Prince Sapieha, Polish foreign minister, was notified today by George Tchitcherine, Russian Bolshevik minister of foreign affairs.

MORE POLLING BOOTHS

Chairman of Election Commissioners Says Municipal Council Must Provide Better Voting Accommodations.

If the national and state election in November is to be conducted with order and despatch, in the opinion of Chairman Hugh C. McOsker of the board of election commissioners, it is imperative that more polling places shall be provided for by action of the municipal council.

Although the number of votes cast at the primaries Tuesday was not large, it was made apparent from the presence of so many women voters at the polls that present facilities will be entirely inadequate when the full vote is expected in November to be being registered. It is believed possible that when the registry lists are closed for the next election at least 50 per cent. more persons will be entitled to vote than was the case a year ago. Middlesex Village is said to be one of the places that is in most serious need of an additional polling place. Many of the citizens in that section now have to travel a long distance to reach the polls and they have been particularly discontented with the facilities afforded them since a new voting precinct was set up in Wigganville.

Additional voting places are also greatly needed in Wards 6, 7 and 8.

Chairman McOsker stated yesterday that he believed that there is a state law limiting the number of voters in a single precinct to 1000. If there is such a statute it is not being lived up to at the present time.

The whole question of establishing new precincts is to be put up to the municipal council that must provide the funds for the erection of new voting booths.

AUTO HITS MOTORCYCLE

An automobile owned and driven by Edward R. Billings, 25 President avenue, Providence, R. I., collided with a motorcycle driven by Thomas Gearin, of 450 Merrimack street on the boulevard in Billerica about 5:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. According to the report received at the police station the automobile was coming towards Lowell and when near the road which leads from the boulevard to North Billerica met the motorcycle. The rear end guard of Billings' machine struck the handle bars of the motorcycle and threw Gearin and his wife and two children to the ground, injuring one of the children, a boy three years old. The boy was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital where it was found that he was injured about the head and legs.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

Naim Haroun, alias, charged with maintaining a house on Tyler street for unlawful purposes, was arraigned in police court today and was ordered under $1000 bonds for trial on September 15. He was arrested by Inspectors Cooney and Morse.

Mary Blanche St. Ours and Marie Rose Levesque, charged with lewd behavior and connected with the ill-famous case, pleaded guilty and were ordered under $300 each for non-payment on September 15.

Autoist Fined

Liberia Perreault, of Dracut, charged with operating an automobile on Fletcher street on the evening of August 30 with no headlights, no registration plates and no rear light was found guilty of the first two complaints and ordered to pay a fine of $5 on each. The complaint charging him with displaying no rear light was put on file.

Joseph Kaplan, a salesman of Boston, charged with operating his automobile on Moody street on September 2 having no license in his possession, had his case placed on file after it was found that he had made application for a license from the state highway commission, and for some reason or other has not yet received it.

Walter G. Sturtevant, charged with operating an automobile recklessly and endangering the lives and safety of the public was ordered under personal recognizance for trial on August 21.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. John A. Saunders of East Chelmsford and Miss Janet Peveorll of this city took place yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being performed by Rev. James M. Craig at his home, 3 Belmont street. The couple, who were unattended, will make their home at 1401 Gorham street.

Honeymoon—Gorman

A pretty marriage took place yesterday at St. Patrick's church, when Mr. James J. Monahan and Miss Margaret Mary Gorman, niece of Miss Catherine Gorman, were united in the bonds of matrimony, the ceremony being performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Keenan. During the mass appropriate hymns were sung by Miss Frances Tighe, Mr. Johnson presiding at the organ. The bride was handsomely attired in white duchess satin en-trainé, with old lace and pearl trimmings and carried a shaker bouquet of bride roses. She was given away by her aunt, while the groom's witness was Mr. Thomas Gorman, brother of the bride. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Frances Costello, cousin of the bride, who wore pink georgette with picture hat to match and carried pink roses. The flower girl was Virginia Gorman, niece of the bride, who wore pink silk with lace oversleeves and carried a basket of pinks and ferns. At the close of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride, 31 Marsh street and at 4:45 o'clock the happy couple, who were the recipients of numerous wedding gifts, left on a honeymoon trip to New York and Washington. Upon their return they will make their home in this city.

Belle—Clogston

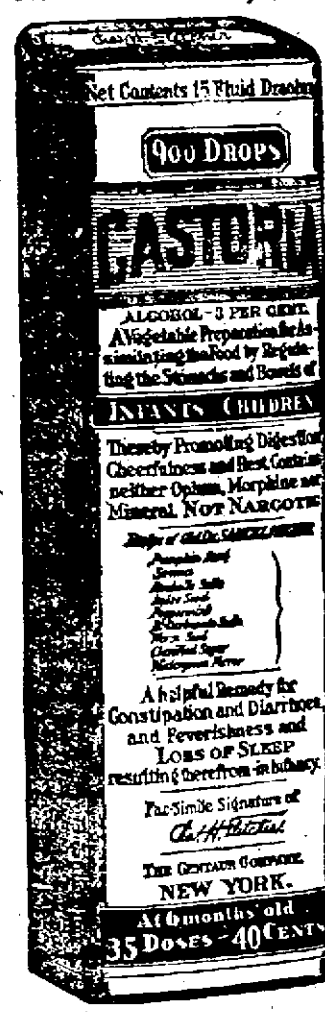

Mr. Lewis Nelson Belle of this city and Miss Marion Heater Clogston of West Chelmsford were married yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Clogston, in West Chelmsford, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Chauncey W. Hawkins of the First Congregational church of this city. The matron of honor was Mrs. Aileen Church Goodnow of Danvers, while the bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen Wright and Miss Marion McKnight, both of this city. The best man was a brother of the groom, Mr. Arthur Belle of Montreal. After an extended honeymoon trip through Canada the couple will make their home in West Chelmsford.

Hickey—O'Donnell

The marriage of Mr. Thomas F. Hickey and Miss Marcella M. O'Donnell took place yesterday afternoon at the Sacred Heart rectory, the cere-

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Of Course You Love Your Baby.

You love it because of its very helplessness, because it can't tell you what is the matter when it feels bad. It can only cry and look to you for help. But the more you love baby, the more you want to help baby, the more you ought to realize what a wonderful remedy Fletcher's Castoria is. It has been used for babies' ailments for over thirty years.

An experienced doctor discovered Fletcher's Castoria especially for babies' use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Doctors who know what is safe and best for babies have only good to say of it.

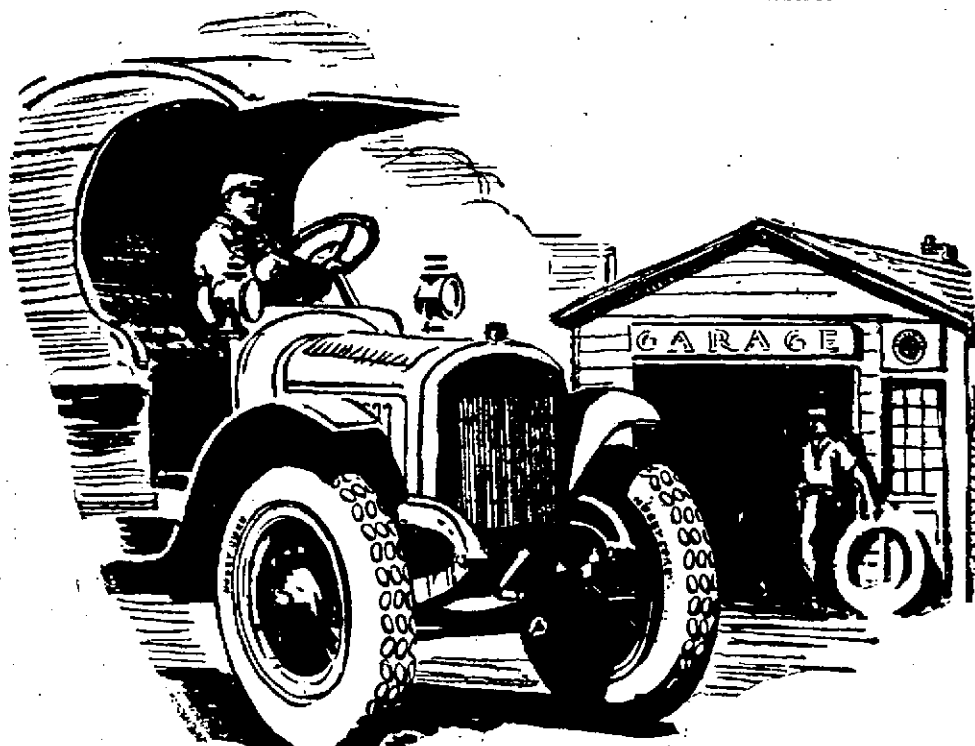

Don't neglect your baby. Get a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria and give baby a few doses of it. See how the little one smiles at you as if trying to thank you for helping it. Soon you will learn to depend on Fletcher's Castoria, made just for Infants and Children, and of course you would not think of using anything for them that was not prepared especially for Infants and Children. So keep it in the house.

Merely putting a Heavy Truck on Air is Not Enough

NOT all pneumatic-tired trucks are delivering economy.

Some owners would have found it cheaper to stick to solid tires than to run on pneumatics not built to meet trucking conditions.

Merely putting a heavy truck on air is not enough.

The air has got to be contained in something—in something stronger than the ordinary pneumatic tire.

We don't recommend pneumatics for all truck uses.

But where we do recommend them, we recommend U. S. Nobby Cords—truck pneumatics built to meet trucking conditions—with side walls bulwarked, flaps moulded, breaker strips multiplied and cords positively anchored around the bead wires—features that give U. WHAT THE GROCER EATS

Of course your grocer has to eat—and what he and his family eat is a safe guide for you. Every one of our five hundred thousand distributors knows the food value of Shredded Wheat Biscuit. They know it is 100 per cent whole wheat, that it has more strength-giving nutriment than meat or eggs, that it is the most real food for the least money. Two Biscuits with milk make a nourishing meal. Ask your grocer about it.

POLAND AND THE LEAGUE

Poland has applied to the League of Nations to settle the boundary dispute on the Lithuanian frontier. It is regrettable that two ancient nations like Poland and Lithuania should be at war on being restored to freedom after centuries of bondage. Poland is insistent that she get back the territory wrested from her perhaps centuries ago and still inhabited by her people. In other words, she is trying to have all the Poles included under the sway of Poland. The League of Nations has barely begun to function. It was not free under the covenant to assume control of the dispute between Poland and Lithuania for the reason that the latter is outside the league, and is recognized only by Soviet Russia, which binds Lithuania to assist the Soviet in war or to allow the free passage of troops through her territory.

Lithuania must agree to submit the case to the League of Nations before the league can act in the premises. It is hoped that this method will be adopted in order to put an end to the internecine strife between these two states which, in the enjoyment of their newly won freedom, should agree to leave the case to the form of arbitration provided for in the league covenant.

It is amazing to find how many conflicts are in progress as a result of the changes in national boundaries established by the peace congress and now recognized by the League of Nations. Now that forty-three of the fifty nations are members of the league, why should it not have ample power to function without waiting for the United States to enter. If it has jurisdiction, it should endeavor to stop the wars that are raging in Europe, Asia, Africa. If it keeps on in its inactive state, it will be little better than a briefless international lawyer. Its course in the case of Poland will be closely watched.

NOMINATION OF WALSH

The surprise of the primaries on the democratic side was the defeat of Richard H. Long for the nomination by Senator Walsh of Boston. It appears that a great number of voters thought that it was United States Senator David I. Walsh who was running and accordingly voted for Walsh, feeling that he would have a better chance of election than would Mr. Long. Now, however, that State Senator Walsh has been nominated the party must stand behind him in order that it possible he may be elected. If the women register in time for the election, they may change Massachusetts from a republican to a democratic state. The women cannot assert their political power in any more practical way.

THE CALAMITY REFRAIN

Many republican editors—indeed we might say all of them—are endeavoring to ring in the industrial threat such as was heard in the McKinley days when the republicans had the power through their manipulation of the money market to produce a panic whenever they pleased. Times have changed and Wall street is no longer the arbiter of who shall have credit and who shall not; yet the old refrain of erstwhile political campaigns is again heard as the following from the Courier-Citizen will show:

Even the prospect of a republican victory means resumption of work in the factories this autumn and a beginning of lower costs of living for which every producer and every consumer should be grateful. The voters of the present day cannot be intimidated by any such piffle. This is mild, however, as compared with what was formerly issued from republican sources to alarm the wage earners. On many occasions they were told of the alleged danger of soup kitchens and breadlines as the concomitants of democratic rule. The calamity howl has been considerably toned down and today it has no terrors for democrats and no efficacy in bringing voters to the republican fold.

INSURING EMPLOYEES

In order to prevent skilled operatives in the textile factories from moving from city to city or mill to mill, some companies are adopting a plan of life insurance based upon the length of service of the employees. The Hamilton and the Appleton mills of this city have been among the first to adopt free life insurance for operatives and recently the Arlington mills of Lawrence put a liberal scheme of life insurance in force for its employees. The amounts range from $750 for employees of less than one year's service to $1500 for those who have four and a half years' service to their credit.

This plan was put in operation on Tuesday of this week, and is a real boon to the operatives. It constitutes no contract with employees and confers no legal rights on them, nor does it change their right to leave when they please or the company's right to discharge them at will. Each policy provides that if employees are permanently or totally disabled before they reach 60 years of age, they will benefit to the full amount of their insurance, while in the employ of the Arlington mills, and during the continuance of this insurance.

This insurance does not interfere with any benefits that may be claimed under the Workmen's Compensation law.

This plan of holding the employees in continuous service, gives the company in return the benefit of their long experience. Being for employees only, of course, the policy holder who leaves the company loses his insurance. The mills of the American Woolen company have in force an insurance system somewhat similar and maintained at the company's expense. It is intended to promote good will toward the employer, and permanency of employment; to prevent labor troubles and give the operatives a live interest in the welfare of the company. It is an innovation that is worthy of emulation by other mills.

STARTLING DISCLOSURES

Thus far the senatorial investigating committee at Chicago has not been able to break down the charges made by Governor Cox of republican plans for vast campaign funds. Mr. Blossom, director of public welfare for the city of Cleveland, proved a valuable witness. He confirmed the charge of Gov. Cox as to city quotas and testified that the quota set for the city of Cleveland alone was $100,000, whereas Treasurer Upham told the committee that this sum was the quota for the entire state. The evidence is certainly very damaging to the republican cause. Chairman Kenyon tried to suppress direct exposure of the republican operations, but Senator Reed brought out most of the facts. The revelations will spread consternation in the republican camp, and the end is not yet in sight.

FULLER'S VICTORY

That Speaker Warner should have gone down before Congressman Fuller is one of the surprises on the republican side in the primaries of Tuesday. Fuller accused Warner of business somewhat similar to that charged against State Treasurer Burrell. He went so far as to compare the legislators to All Baba and the Forty Thieves. Whether he had much or little behind his charges, he caused a doubt in the minds of the voters sufficient to defeat Mr. Warner. The scheme of republican succession is thus given a serious jolt. Fuller is a wealthy man, a former progressive and a good fighter. He will be a hard man to beat.

The working class in Japan is organizing a general federation of labor based on lines similar to the American Federation of Labor. One of its aims was to prevent an influx of Chinese labor just as we wish to prevent the Japanese from overrunning the western states recently threatened. Thus Japan must clearly understand the effect of having the labor forces of the nation disturbed by an influx of cheap labor from abroad.

"Can it be that this persistent mud-slinging, this purveyor of groundless charges, . . . is the type of man to be placed in the highest office in the gift of the American people?" asks the Boston Herald. It is perhaps needless to point out that the question was pending before some of the latest slush-fund revelations had been made public.

France is rapidly overcoming the effects of the war. Her imports in 1920 show an increase of 13.90 per cent over those of last year and her exports 188.03 per cent over those of 1919. Thus she has decreased the adverse balance of trade by 23.91, which is a good showing made under most adverse circumstances.

In view of the fact that it used to be considered not quite permissible for a man to vote for himself for office, we should like to know, whether it is to be proper for a wife to cast her ballot for her husband in the future, and also if a man's own better half won't vote for him who else is likely to?

There were 2600 auto accidents in this commonwealth during the first six months of 1921. The number of similar happenings the first six months of the present year was more than $500. The Massachusetts judge is doubtless right when he thinks that in this fact is to be found a reason for halting up another long black mark against "Jakey," "moonshine" and other forms of illicit booze.

Boston politicians seem to be taking Peter F. Tague's renomination for congress as an indication that the time has come for resigning the political grave of Martin Lomasney. The friends of the mahatma, who have seen his grave excavated many times in the past, however, are not likely to incur any expense just yet awhile for sackcloth and ashes for use at his funeral.

Today, tomorrow and Saturday are "tomato days" in Lowell, and you can benefit yourself by buying for present or future consumption tomatoes, which are believed by many to have rare medicinal qualities, and at the same time encourage the farmers to provide a bumper crop next year.

One way of helping toward obtaining a better city government for Lowell will be to take a lively interest in the acts of the charter commission and attend, if possible, some of its meetings, the first of which is to be held tonight in the city hall.

A burnt cat may dread the fire, but G. O. P. leaders rush into an attempt to buy the presidency as cheerfully as though they had not learned what happened to the candidates who made the highest bids for the party's nomination at Chicago.

The Cambridge woman who spent 15 minutes wrestling with her primary ballot and then slipped it into the box unmarked did at least a little better than her stay-at-home sisters. She tried.

Under the headline "Drop of 15 in Tax Rate in Holliston" we almost expect to read, "Few of the taxpayers survived the shock of surprise."

Democrats and republicans can unite in rejoicing over one victory—that of the sucker over Burrellism.

New both the wise man or woman begin "saving-up" for the next vacation. It may become a habit—voting for Walsh for governor.

SEEN AND HEARD

Seems long time since Bryan said anything for publication.

Stillness soon will be advertising "chic chapeaux suitable for the rolls."

And now comes the shortage of polling booths to keep company with our shortage of homes.

School Hooks

Kansas saves $500,000 this year on school books, according to the state textbook commission. Kansas has taken from the textbook trust the publication of books. Kansas children use in school. Kansas parents are so much ahead. Not bad, is it?

Home Site

This was a homestead. Now the trees lean but in grass and memories. The chimney and its friendly hearth are clasped to stones and crumbling earth. A ridge of masonry recalls the line of straight thick-timbered walls. And widening roses in a row tell where the garden used to go. Perhaps some dandelion nodding head retains a glimpse of the old or shed; the four-square house so simple plan the pioneer, its artisan. Who sought his homestead like the rest. In praise of homesteads, West. But when the old man dies, no son! Will know the house save gnarled male. Tunneling through roots and clay to find dead timbers in the way, and next best thing, a new plan. The rose they planted blossoms still. —Marie E. Gilchrist in New York Evening Post.

By O. B. Joyful

Labor Day is no joke to the human hoof. It is a period of tense and ardent effort to keep up with the parade in the forenoon, and with man's plea party in the aft. The aching feet, the tired feet, how they throb, and hurt, and sting! The feet so happily joyful at the dawn of day, are the feet so doggone tired at the end of Labor Day. They're the feet, unused to hikes. They're the feet, unloft feet, willing feet, but, by heck! they're not in the habit of marching so far. Nothing wrong with the feet in the morning. But, believe you me, there's something out of gear with 'em before they get past the reviewing stand. Never before did the feet have any idea city blocks were a mile long, and the farther you go the longer the blocks.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I had something to say a day or two ago about a climb to the top of one of the lower peaks of the Green Mountains. On this hike I made a second interesting discovery. Recently, as already mentioned in this column, Mr. Pierre Gregoire brought into The Sun office a beautiful, delicately moulded flower that was shaped like an Indian calumet. As I tramped through a damp, shaded spot on the Vermont hillside I was rather startled to come suddenly upon a large patch of these same pipes growing luxuriantly among the grass. As I stated in my story about Mr. Gregoire's flower, it is probable that they are to be found plentifully enough in the vicinity of Lowell if one only knows where to look for them, so it appears that farther north they grow abundantly where conditions are favorable. The plant seems to belong, or to be closely allied, to the mushroom family. It grows apparently, in much the same way as do the other mushrooms, and after it has been kept for awhile it hardens and turns to an inky blackness all over. The name of the plant I have learned is apparently "Indian pipe." Some day I hope to get a chance to reopen the old school text book on botany and learn as much about the flower as probably many of the school children of Lowell now know. One does not have to journey to Vermont, though, to find interest in beauty in the realm of flowers at the present time. It is hard to tell which season of the year has the most joys for the admirers of the products of the dooryard gardens of the city. It seems to me, however, that it is in the early fall that we catch some of the most entrancing views of form and color as we pause for a glance over the fences as we pass along the streets of Lowell.

"We are living, first and foremost," says James A. Moyer, director of the state department of university extension, in his latest news letter to students, "in the age of education. For, although money and simple handicraft each play an important role in the world's work, it is education which directs the skilled hand and gives an effective power to the invested dollar."

No circumstance could be more favorable to the development of self-made men—men who are successful through their own endeavors. Education, more strongly than any other force, has the power to advance men toward achievement; and education, moreover, lies within easy reach of almost every normal man and woman in Massachusetts. "There is hardly a young man or young woman who reads these lines who cannot give himself or herself a good general education. All that is needed is a determined will, undaunted courage and self-discipline," says Dr. Frank Crane.

"Every one of them wastes time enough in four years to receive a degree equivalent to a college course. Several states, among them Massachusetts, have built up educational systems based on the spare minute. Your own division of university extension is one such system, designed to give you supervised instruction, by class or correspondence, in your leisure time."

"Your education must first of all fit you to perform your own work efficiently, whether that work be laying bricks or teaching school. Every knock of the hard or of the mild, however slight, is worth learning so long as it has a bearing on what you perform. And after the education for work, comes the education for enjoyment—the training which teaches you to find pleasure in things you could not appreciate before, which points out to you the interest in the simple things about you. To sum up, that man is educated who is a master at his trade, and who finds every detail of life worth thinking over."

At Depot Headquarters, 37 Essex street, Boston, the quartermaster offers for sale at retail, by mail order or otherwise, bacon in 5 lb. cans, corned beef and fresh beef roast, in cans of from one to six pounds. The price of the bacon per can is $3.50, corned beef, 5 lb. can, $1.40; beef roast, 5 lb. can, $1.40; and corned beef hash 22 cents per can. The postage for each order is six cents for the first pound and two cents for each additional pound. Full particulars may be had by writing to the address given above.

INDICATIONS POINT TO WATSON'S NOMINATION

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 9.—Incomplete newspaper returns from yesterday's state-wide democratic primary indicated that Thomas E. Watson, publisher and once populist candidate for president, had been nominated for United States senator from Georgia. During the campaign, Watson was outspoken in his opposition to the League of Nations and in his criticism of the Wilson administration. Watson's opponents were Senator Hoke Smith, who was seeking renomination, Governor Dorsey and John H. Cooper, a Mason attorney.

metal workers are controlled by extreme socialists who are desirous of giving the movement a political character, but responsible leaders of the party are said to discourage such a policy. At many places the workers have announced they are ready to convert themselves into co-operative societies, which would undertake the direct management of works that have been occupied, pay rent which would be fixed by arbitration and deposit the necessary guarantees.

When he returned from his conference with Premier Lloyd George at Lucerne, Premier Giolitti, issued a statement referring to "recent agreements between European socialists and Nikolai Lenin, Russian Bolshevik premier" and forecast that agreements might be forerunners of active revolutionary attempts which would soon occur in Italy. There is every indication the present movement was prepared deliberately and systematically, and that efforts were made to involve other trades beside metal workers.

The typical caution of the Italian peasants, however, made it difficult to set any extended revolt in motion, it is asserted. In one plant which has been taken over, workers have come into possession of 2300 quintals of grain and declared they would supply themselves with bread in the event that bakers refused to supply them. In many plants a serious situation has arisen because of the fact that the workers have armed themselves. At Sesto Giovanni, however, the supposed machine guns mounted at a plant turned out to be camouflaged wooden weapons.

Big Labor Meeting

MILAN, Italy, Sept. 9.—One hundred labor chambers and 60 federations of trades, representing 2,500,000 workmen will be represented at the meeting of the General Confederation of Labor which will convene here on Friday, to decide on the policy to be pursued by the confederation relative to the labor situation in Italy. The Italian workers' Union, the Federation of Seamen, the Federation of Port Laborers, the Federation of Postal and Telegraphic Employees, and associations of civil servants all also will be represented.

Many strange incidents have occurred here since the inception of the movement by workers to occupy factories. Signor Agnelli, known as the "king of automobile makers" has been compelled to go about the city on foot, as workers have attacked his motor whenever it has appeared. Signor Baurieri, who owns one of the largest factories in this city, found on leaving his office yesterday that two of his workmen were occupying his automobile.

Workers Seize Autos
"Shall we take you home?" they inquired politely.

"No thanks," replied Signor Baurieri, doffing his hat. "I am waiting for a street car, and have motored so long, that it is quite right you should take a turn." The Milanese section of the reformist socialist party, while deploring the consequences to the economic condition of the nation, puts the blame for the metalurgic conflict on "the state of mind produced by the scandalous spectacles of the immoral and tragic extravagance of the war and the inexorable and continuous greed of speculators."

After referring to disastrous conditions in communist Russia, a statement issued by party leaders concludes by expressing disbelief in state-owned industries, but says there is hope the present revolutionary movement of metal workers will result in victory over the "egotistic and exploiting spirit" and a proportional division of business between capital and labor.

Tomorrow Critical Day

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Friday will be a critical day in the history of the movement of Italian metal workers, says the Milan correspondent of the Herald, organ of labor. If no decision is reached by Friday, the correspondent says, immediate action may be taken by workers.

The ultimate aim of the Federation of Metal Workers, as well as the Confederation of Labor, he declares, "is socialization of industry and this aim, now almost within their grasp, may at any moment overshadow claims for wages. Friday may well see an extension of the soviet principle to other industries of Italy."

60 Autos Lost in Spectacular Fire

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—A spectacular fire, caused by exploding gas-line tanks, destroyed 60 automobiles in a storage warehouse in 54th street early today. The flames threatened to spread to nearby tenements. Fifty families were driven into the streets.

McADOO OPPOSED TO MODIFICATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of light wines and beer would ultimately destroy the entire prohibition amendment, William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, declared in a prepared statement made public last night. He added he believed a modifying clause would make every lunch room, drug store and soda fountain a saloon, encourage youth to drink and bring a curse upon the country greater than war.

continued, "It does not mean license in any form. To permit the sale of light wines and beer is to open a crack in the door of prohibition, and once the crack is open the door is wide. It is impossible to administer a light wine and beer law in such a manner as to prevent the gravest abuses."

Brewers and wine merchants know such a modification would destroy the prohibition amendment, to restore the liquor faction to political power would be to re-establish liquor trafficking in the worst form."

Arab women paint their feet, and the children their hands, with a henna. "Prohibition means prevention," he said.

NOTED SUFFRAGIST ISSUES STATEMENT

Mrs. Annie M. Sloan, of Buffalo, Declares She Would Not Take All the Money in the World for Good Tanlac Did Her

One of the distinguishing features in connection with the introduction and phenomenal popularity of Tanlac is the large number of prominent men and women who have come forward with their unqualified endorsements of the medicine because of the benefits they have derived from its use.

One of the latest additions to this list is the name of Mrs. Annie M. Sloan, residing at 213 Huntington avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Sloan has resided in Buffalo for the past 10 years and is one of the most prominent club women of Buffalo, being an active member of the Buffalo City club, the Lincoln Republican club, and the Women Voters' league.

She represented the women of her city in their appeal to the United States senate at Washington when the suffrage bill was first introduced, and was honored with a membership to the Washington Suffrage club. Mrs. Sloan is also deeply concerned in church and charity work. Her statement regarding the benefits she has derived from Tanlac will be of widespread interest. She said:

"I have only been taking Tanlac for about four weeks, but I am already feeling better than I have in years. Why, it just seems as though I have been awarded a new lease in life and I would be doing an injustice to others who are trying to find relief not to tell them what this grand medicine has done for me."

"Some years ago I was compelled to undergo an operation for gall stones, after which I got along very well until about a year and a half ago when I was taken down with a severe bilious attack. My appetite was abnormal; I would have an awful craving for food and eat until I was satisfied and then a little while get hungry again and feel faint. Such severe pains would come in my stomach and right side that I felt like they were killing me, and I became so nauseated that it worried me for fear I would break a blood vessel."

"These attacks became frequent and with each one I had to remain in bed for four or five days. About six weeks ago I had one of these attacks and was in such awful pain that I gave up hope and thought my time had come. This spell left me without any energy and so weak I could hardly walk across the room."

"I could almost see the operating table staring me in the face again, but I had such a fear of another operation that I dreaded the very thought of it for Tanlac. I decided to try the medicine. So many fine testimonials came myself. Well, after I finished taking my first bottle I noticed a wonderful improvement."

"My pains have all disappeared now. My appetite has been regulated, and I have not had a bilious spell or feel nauseated since I began taking Tanlac, four weeks ago. I just seem to be brimful of new strength and energy and never have that tired, weak feeling any more. I'll just say frankly I think Tanlac is perfectly wonderful, and I wouldn't take all the money in the world for the good it has done me."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Green Drug Store, Merrimack square, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

LABOR UNION MAY BUY HOTEL BUILDING

It was rumored today that negotiations are on by the Loomixers' union for the purchase of the Park hotel building in City Hall avenue. This building, which is of brick, is four stories high, the lower floor consisting of a large place of business, the second and third being divided into rooms, while the fourth story is an assembly hall.

For a great many years the Loomixers' union has held its meetings in Carpenters' hall, Runnels building, but a few months ago when the unions were leased out the organization secured a lease on the assembly hall in the Park hotel building, where it now meets. The Loomixers' union has a membership of over 400 and it is said its financial condition is excellent.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

There's something on that bill at the B. F. Keith theatre this week which will interest everybody. The Salon Singers prove as fetching a straight musical act as the new season has given us, and the Havel Brothers, Arthur and Morton, will purvey a comedy novelty that is all to the good. Julia Nash, a splendid actress, and C. H. O'Donnell, in "Almost Single," have a comedy that holds very bright conversation and some good scenes, and Ted Dooley is a comedian who is equally at home with the farrier, in dances, songs or comedy. One of the biggest hits of the bill is scored by Margaret Ford, a singer, who owns to possessing a baritone as well as a soprano voice. Other acts on the bill are: Redford & Winchester, comedy jugglers; and Green & Myra, in a mixture of violin playing, songs and dancing.

OPERA HOUSE
Miss Marguerite Fields, leading woman with the Lowell Players at the Opera House, seems possessed of even more personal charm than last year, and her work judging from the efforts put forth in this week's opening bill, indicates that she has lost none of her artistic and exceptional talents as an actress. In Milton Byron, as leading man, the management has secured the services of a young man who promises to win favor with the patrons from the very start. If his work this week in "Civilian Clothes" is to be taken as a criterion, it's a foregone conclusion, even at this early date, that he will be extremely popular with the playgoers of Lowell and vicinity. The other new members of the cast are also winning favor all along the line.

THE RIALTO
The Rialto will offer, as its super-feature today and the remainder of the week, "The Family Honor," a First National attraction in seven parts. This is King Vidor's great picture, and it shows the inside workings of small town politics, which, really, are not so different from the brand in the big politics. The mayor of a town while openly belonging to a purely league, is in league with the underworld elements. "The Family Honor" gives the beautiful romance of a southern girl, and there is woven into it the defeat of the mayor who played both ends and the middle. Doris Kenyon in "The Great White Trail" is one of the prettiest girls in the films and she is cast in a story of the Klondike. Other features of the last three days are Larry Semon in "Above the Clouds," episode of King Baggot in "The Hawk's Trail" and a Fox News.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Paramount-Artcraft week is proving a decided hit at the Merrimack Square Theatre and the collection of offerings which Manager Nelson has assembled for the second half of the week bears the Paramount stamp of excellence. The leading feature is Lady Rose's Daughter, from the celebrated novel by Mrs. Humphrey Ward, starring Miss Ferguson. This is easily one of the most charming photographs of the season and presents Miss Ferguson in an exceptionally attractive role. An atmospheric presentation of Scottish entertainers Kincaid Killies' round out a strong bill.

THE STRAND
As Marjorie Meadows, the heroine of "The Chorus Girl's Romance," one of the three big features on the bill at the Strand for the last three days of the week, beginning with Monday today, Viola Dana proved to have found one of her most charming characterizations. Her demonstration of the now famous "shimmy" reflects the fact that the dainty and charming young star possesses two of the most irresistible shoulders on off the screen. The story, originally published in the Saturday Evening Post under the title "Lead and Shoulders," affords the film favorite wonderful opportunity to reflect new talent as well as her exceptional personal charm. Above everything else it gives Viola a chance to shimmy. Don't miss this effort of demonstrating her unusual ability in the terechorean art. She certainly shimmies a mean pair of shoulders. "Dead Call Me Jim," one of Will Rogers' latest film efforts, is an adaptation of J. G. Holland's book, entitled "Seven Paks." Mr. Rogers' personality is brought out to the greatest advantage, and his characterization of the principal role is absolutely brilliant. Besides having lots of good humor to it, the picture story is one of the strongest human interest and dramatic endeavors that Rogers has ever appeared in. Jimmie Rogers, son of the star, and Irene Rich are included in the engaging cast. And last but not least, Larry Semon, the new screen comedy king, in "Sole Concrete," is the third feature. This comedy creation has many new angles of fun-making that make it rich in good humor. A new weekly is also shown.

CLAN GRANT MEETING
Members of Clan Grant held their regular meeting in Post 129 hall last evening. Routine business was transacted and arrangements were made to entertain Clan Bonclash of Haverhill at the first October meeting. Interesting remarks were made by Past Chief McGrath of Clan Johnstone.

Sure relief

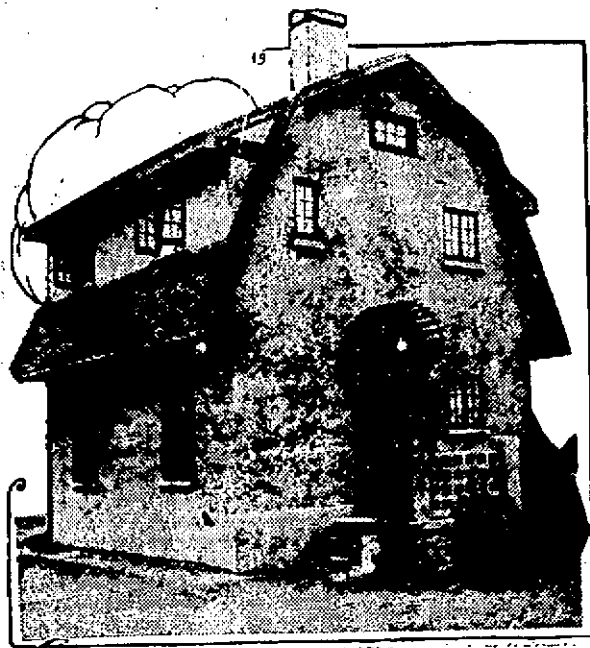

The sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia, and biliousness, needs no warning to avoid the many worthless, so-called "cures" that are offered, often containing harmful drugs. In vain, these various preparations have been tried, frequently leaving the system weaker than before.

The true "L. F." Atwood's Medicine brings quick relief without the risk of injurious after-effects. Instead of a temporary improvement, at the expense of weakening some vital organ, it helps the entire digestive apparatus, tones the stomach, and establishes a general healthy condition. Taken regularly, the physical improvement which will result, will also overcome the fear of a new attack.

"L. F." can be given with perfect safety to every member of the family. It has been a family health-restorer for 60 years; its friends are steadfast. You can buy a large bottle (24 teaspoonful doses) from your druggist for 50 cents. "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

Has Faith in Concrete Houses as Big Factor in Solving Housing Problem

ONE OF MISS GLEASON'S MODEL CONCRETE HOMES

BY EDWIN D. RIDER
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 8.—A woman is leading the way in Rochester's fight for adequate housing—she's an engineer, a master machinist, society woman, banker and a leader in Rochester's chamber of commerce, too!

She is Miss Kate Gleason. All her life Miss Gleason has been a trail-blazer—she has led and Rochester has followed. She has enjoyed breaking down traditions and entering fields of endeavor hitherto barred to women. When but a girl she entered her father's machine factory as an apprentice. Later she attended the Cornell engineering school.

Miss Gleason is now engaged in her first venture in home building—the erection of 100 cozy little concrete houses. Each house is 20-by-20 feet, two stories, with a garage in the basement.

Adds Beauty

The difference between these houses and the Edison and Ingersoll concrete houses is that the latter were simply large concrete boxes, while Miss Gleason never has lost sight of beauty in her design. Her houses are an adaptation of the Dutch colonial style. Each has an attractive fireplace, an "L" shaped living and dining room, small, but compact and completely equipped kitchen, full basement, which includes garage, furnace, coal room and laundry, bath room on the second floor, three bedrooms and a 50-foot lot.

Miss Gleason designed the house and then had special molds and pouring apparatus constructed. She says the standard concrete apparatus now on the market is unsuitable for the building of small houses.

Manufacturing Process

It would not pay to build one concrete house, she has learned.

"House building must be made a manufacturing process, not an individual, jobbing proposition," says Miss Gleason. "Building of concrete houses is advisable only in groups where your apparatus can be moved easily. Then, too, you cannot evade the human element in house building or any other business."

The kitchen is completely furnished with the exception of pots and pans. It contains a kitchen cabinet, refrigerator, gas stove, sink, mixing faucet, laundry and electric ventilator.

erator, gas stove, sink, mixing faucet, laundry and electric ventilator.

Economy of Space

Economy of space is the dominant thing in Miss Gleason's unique concrete houses, with beauty running a close second.

The walls are eight inches in width and the floors four inches thick. Each floor is eight feet in height. The houses are built around a hill in terraces, each row eight feet above the other.

Three men can pour the concrete for a house in the time it would take 18

men ordinarily. It is difficult Miss Gleason explained, to estimate how much time is required on one house because she's building 100 and placing the proposition on a manufacturing scale. However, the first house was completed in a little more than two months and now three a week are turned out.

Many Honors

Here are just a few of the honors which have come to this woman: In 1914 she was elected to active membership in the American Society of Engineers, the first woman to become a member.

She was elected president of the First National bank of East Rochester in 1918. Miss Gleason was then the only woman bank president in the United States.

The Rochester chamber of commerce broke its rule against admitting women in 1916 and made her a full-fledged member.

Now Miss Gleason is devoting all her time to the building of concrete houses. She has faith in them as a big factor in solving America's housing problem. She is selling her concrete houses, with a 50-foot lot, garage and furnished kitchen, for $4000.

COAST GUARD DEFENSE

The recruiters for the Coast Guard defense are now stationed on the South coast ready to sign up any men desirous of service in that branch of the army. Last night the rays of the million candle power searchlight were being flashed through the sky above the city and attracted considerable attention. The party is also equipped with a moving picture outfit and a C.A.C. band full of pep and harmony. There are 30 men in the party outside of the members of the band.

AUTOS IN COLLISION

An automobile operated by Thomas Geatin of 450 Merrimack street, this city, and a machine driven by Edward B. Billings of Providence collided on the Boston road near Sprague bridge in Billerica late yesterday afternoon. One of the Geatin children was slightly injured and the damage to the cars was not great.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

SCHOOL BEGINS

If you were to walk into the Meadow Grove school you'd probably be very much surprised at the various kinds of "seats" for the children. Bertie Bat was hanging by his feet from a stick; Orrie Owl, Oscar's middle-aged son, was snuggling in a cozy hole in the tree; Freddie Frog was squatting in a cool puddle; Sir Ann Spider was lounging comfortably in her web, with an interested eye on Buddle Blue Bottle, and the Mole and Mouse children

"We'll now have reading," he announced. Nancy was busily making a dunce cap, and Niek was out hunting up the funny things who were away that day. Everything was very quiet, except for the rustling of the pages, as the pupils hunted the place. "Don't thumb over your leaves that way," said Scribble Scratch. "It bends them and makes dog-eared." Everybody shivered and looked to-

were sitting with one foot in a convenient hole, ready to follow with the rest of themselves if Shanty Sprink or Wisp Weasel got hungry while they were passing the plates.

The rest of the children were sitting up obediently on stones of various shapes and sizes, but you may imagine that Greenie Grasshopper's seat in no-wise resembled the one occupied by fat Wally Woodchuck. Sammie Snake, Jr., was in his element, curled up like a watchspring, on top of a nice flat rock, wondering how far he could stretch when the teacher's back was turned and if Terry Toad studying his spelling tasted as good as he looked.

Mr. Scribble Scratch, the fairy schoolmaster, hammered on his desk (forgetting that it was the Magical Mushroom) and the school came to order.

"Sport Squirrel," went on the master, "please read where it says, 'I see a cat.' Everybody jumped again at 'Oh,' yelped Floppy Field Mouse with a start. 'This is no place for me.' (Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

CULLING DEMONSTRATION

About 40 people from various sections of the town attended the demonstration on poultry culling, which was held at the poultry plant of John B. Wilson in Chelmsford yesterday. The demonstration was under the direction of C. B. Tilton, county agent for the Middlesex farm bureau, and was arranged by Earl M. Perham, the Chelmsford representative of the bureau. The speaker was Prof. Monahan of the Massachusetts Agricultural college.

SURPRISE PARTY
A very pretty surprise party was held at the home of Miss Helen Sheehan, of 101 Bourne street, Monday evening. Miss Sheehan was very pleasantly surprised by her many friends. An enjoyable program was carried out as follows: Skit dance by Gladys Gleason; piano selection by Vera Gleason; butterfly dance by Baby Grace Ledford; Russian dance by Gladys Brown; song by John Yonick; piano selection by Helen Sheehan; reading entitled "Midnight March" by Mela Grayballa; poppy dance by Vera Gleason; comic song by William Moylean; Irish jig by Anna Letford; reading entitled "Homage to Erin" by Ethel Hartigan and Irish Lilt by Gertrude Sheehan. Refreshments were served by the Misses Catherine Tucker, Helen Healy and Christina Cameron. The party broke up after thanking Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan for their kind hospitality.

GOOD GAME ON THE SOUTH COMMON

The Knights of Columbus nine and a team from Fort Warren, Boston, played a very good game on the South common last evening, much to the entertainment of several thousand spectators. The game resulting in a tied score of 5 to 5.

At the close of the contest the soldiers expressed a desire to play off the tie one week from Saturday.

The Fort Warren team proved to be particularly snappy and showed that they knew the game from a to z. Their pitcher threw an underhand ball that floated up to the plate and worried the Lowell players for some considerable time.

Dolan started to pitch for the K. of C., but had to yield to Cawley because of a sore arm. Cawley in turn had to give the mound back to Dolan because of similar trouble.

One of the longest drives ever seen on the common was made by Shortstop Hannon of the Coast Defense team. He sent the ball past the fielders and over the crowd to the pond and jogged home. Marcotte of the local team knocked another homer in the same direction, but was not quite as hard a drive as that of Hannon. Lynch made another pretty hit to the limits of the field but failed to score. Crowe, third baseman for the knights, made a catch of a hot liner in the first inning and was awarded by the spectators, who applauded generously. The score:

GRAND CIRCUIT

Tommy Murphy Big Winner in Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 9.—Tommy Murphy was the big winner of the third day of the Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak Park yesterday, driving three of his four entries in the four events to first money and getting fourth money with the other.

Murphy drove John Henry to a win in the 204 pace; Arlon Guy to first money in the Acorn purse for three-year-old trotters eligible to the 2:16 class and Dar Hyl to a three-heat victory in the 2:15 trot, winning the last two heats after Creed had won the first because of Dar Hyl's bad break.

Bonnington, with Valentine in the sulky furnished the only upset of the afternoon by winning the 2:14 trot from Let Fly, the favorite.

Arlon Guy that Murphy drove to an impressive win in the colt race, made her debut yesterday afternoon, never having raced before.

MARGARET NEWBURGH
FIRST WOMAN TO VOTE
UNDER U. S. LAW

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Miss Margaret Newburgh holds the distinction of being the first woman in the United States to vote under the 19th amendment, make possible when Tennessee, the 36th and final state, ratified woman suffrage. In a special municipal bond election she reached the voting booth at 6 a. m. Other women tried for the honor, but Miss Newburgh won the race.

YOUTH ADMITS MURDER OF M'KENNA GIRL

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 9.—Rolf Adams, 22 years old, World war veteran of East Providence, was last night arrested, charged with the murder of Rose B. McKenna last Thursday and the shooting of William J. Deligan. According to the police Adams confessed to the shooting.

For the past week the cold-blooded shooting of the young woman, who was in an auto on the Barrington parkway with her fiancé, has been a complete mystery. Early yesterday the right search that has been conducted through the territory surrounding the scene of the crime yielded an auto in which the murderer had been tied into knots and evidently hastily thrown away.

This was the first cold unearthing by the police who have been working on the theory that the murderer was either a jealous lover of Miss McKenna's or a gunman.

Also yesterday a young man told the Providence police that he, with a girl friend and another couple, had been at the scene where the shooting occurred two nights before the murder. One of the girls laughed in a high pitched voice and immediately a tall, thin man leaped out of the bushes and demanded of the astonished four what the girl was crying about.

He was immediately told that the girl had not been crying and that furthermore if anything was troubling her the two men with her were quite capable of taking care of her. Whereupon the watcher said that the crying must be "cut out," and accompanied the remark with a threatening gesture. When one of the men started toward him he leaped again into the bushes.

Recognized the Man

One of the men in the party believed that he recognized the tall, thin man as Rolf Adams of East Providence. With this new tip to work on, inspectors Rogers, Hall and Bowen of the local police department, accompanied by men from the East Providence force, went to the Adams home at 130 Quarry street and arrested young Adams. According to the story told by the police, he immediately admitted the shooting, but said that he had not meant to shoot, though four shots had been fired.

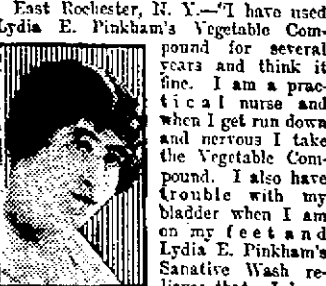

He told the police that he did not know either Miss McKenna or Deligan. He said that he saw the car by the road, and that, making his face with his handkerchief, he told the driver to "hold up your mitts."

Deligan, he said, made a movement as if he were going to pull a gun. Adams quickly raised his 45-caliber automatic pistol and, holding it at a level with his eyes, pulled the trigger. Then, Adams told the police, he ran, casting away his handkerchief and throwing the pistol into the river.

THIS NURSE ADVISES

Women Who Are Ill To
Take Lydia E. Pinkham's
Vegetable Compound.

East Rochester, N. Y.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for several years and think it fine. I am a practical nurse and when I get run down and nervous I take the Vegetable Compound. I also have trouble with my bladder when I am on my feet and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash relieves that. I have recommended your medicine to several young ladies who have all benefited by it."—Mrs. ANNE L. BELLORS, 306 Lincoln Rd., East Rochester, N. Y.

The letters constantly being published from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

This Blood-Builder Strengthens Nerves and Promotes Vigor

Many People Who Have Been Helped Now Recommend a
Reliable Remedy to Those Who Suffer

The season of the year is approaching which was marked by the ravages of the influenza epidemic of 1918 and 1919.

Both epidemics, with their toll of death and suffering, emphasized the fact that the most positive safeguard against disease is the bodily health and vigor which come from an abundant supply of rich, well-oxygenated blood. Influenza claimed those of low vitality, thin blood and weak nerves.

Worry, overwork, severe shock and improper nourishment will lower the bodily tone, upsetting the delicate balance we call health. Those who can read the early signs of thinning blood can generally arrest the decline before any of the more painful symptoms appear, but the disease creeps on so stealthily that it is frequently well advanced before it is discovered.

Among the early symptoms of decline are pallor, especially of the lips, a slight palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath after walking a short distance and a tendency to tire easily. Continued decline causes nervousness, irritability, depression, sleeplessness, headaches and fainting spells.

If you want vigorous health, strong nerves and good blood begin treatment now with a tonic that has been used successfully in many families for generations. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and enable it to carry nourishment to enfeebled organs, nerves, muscles and tissues. This new blood will so tone the entire system that colds and epidemic diseases can get a foothold.

Proof of the value of the remedy is found in the statements of those who have used it.

Influenza Corrected

Among those who are healthier and stronger today for having given Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial is Mr. Joseph Marcot, of No. 12 Jordan court, New Lebanon, N. H.

"My blood was very thin," says Mr. Marcot, "and I became so weak that for months I was barely able to do my work. I suffered especially from stomach trouble. After eating a meal I had sharp, shooting indigestion pains for hours. Sometimes the pain continued into the night and I lost hours and hours of needed sleep.

"It was while I was in this condition and about ready to give up hope of regaining strength, that I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began the treatment. In a surprisingly short time the remedy began to help me and I was so pleased that I continued the treatment and in a few weeks found myself free from stomach trouble and able to eat a hearty meal without any painful after-effects. I sleep well now, have regained my strength and my blood is rich. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me and I am sure that they will help others who need a tonic."

After-Effects of Influenza

Mrs. Henry H. Miller, who lives at No. 121 Elliott street, Brattleboro, Vt., strongly recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to everyone who has had influenza and feels the need of a tonic. She says:

"I had a bad attack of influenza and it seemed practically impossible for me to recover my strength. I was tired all the time and couldn't undertake any work without resting every few minutes. At times my condition was so bad that I had to go to bed and I suffered from rheumatism, too, in my limbs and my head ached and I was very nervous."

"Years ago I had taken Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they helped me so much that I decided to give the remedy another trial. In a very short time I could see that the pills were helping me and soon I was able to do my own work without unusual exertion. Headaches no longer bothered me, my nerves are stronger and I feel better than I have for sometime. I cannot recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too strongly."

Neuralgia Pain Disappears

"I never again want to go through the terrible pain I experienced for weeks and weeks before I learned of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and found relief," says Mrs. Catherine Ryan, of No. 392 Washington street, Somerville, Mass. "I was in a badly run-down condition due to overwork and worry. I had the care of a family of seven and worried a great deal over my son who had gone overseas with the American Expeditionary force and returned wounded. As I grew weaker I developed neuralgia and the pain was sometimes so great that I could do nothing but sit with my hands pressed down on my head. Finally I could not walk from bed to chair. I lost several pounds and became so nervous that I hardly knew what to do.

"One day I happened to read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. In a few weeks I felt a little stronger for my appetite improved. Very slowly the pain became less severe and the attacks of neuralgia less frequent. As I continued taking the remedy my strength returned, I gained weight and my nerves became stronger. I sleep well now and seldom have a headache. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for they helped me when nothing else that I tried gave me any relief."

Keep Your System Toned Up

Keep your system toned up with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and you will be free from all the ills that come from a weak system. You will be free from all the ills that come from a weak system. You will be free from all the ills that come from a weak system.

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. Get a box at the nearest drug store and begin this treatment now.

Chelmsford ORANGEADE

Population of Maine 767,996

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Maine, 34th state in population 10 years ago has been outgrown in the last decade by Oregon, which was 35th state. Maine's population, announced today by the census bureau, is 767,996, an increase of 25,625 or 3.5 per cent over 1910. The growth of the state was the smallest since the decade ending 1890. Oregon which had almost 70,000 people, less than Maine in 1910, had an increase of 110,520 during the 10 years.

He did not learn of Miss McKenna's death until the next morning when, he said, he was told of it by a woman in East Providence.

Adams' sobbing explanation of his act was that he has not been himself since a sickness he incurred while serving in the navy during the World war. He was treated for the disease at the Norfolk Naval hospital and was discharged in May, 1919.

Watched "Lovers' Lane"

Almost immediately after his discharge he secured employment with the Gulf Refining Company, in the plant located within a stone's throw of the scene of the shooting.

He had noticed for a long time that this section of the Barrington Parkway has become a "Lovers' Lane" for Providence couples. Some time ago he began spending his evenings in the bushes near this spot spying on the couples. He said that if he always carried a gun, but gave the police to understand that he carried this to protect himself from indignant lovers who might resent his acts rather than with an intention of harming those who watched.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George N. Adams, for years residents of East Providence and well known there, at first could not believe that their son had committed the crime, and later said that if it were true it was because his mind had been unhinged through reason of his illness. Neighbors and friends of the family have noticed that young Adams has been acting queerly lately. He kept aloof from all his former comrades, and had little to say to anybody.

MET DEATH BY LIGHTNING STROKE

A record of the autopsy made upon the body of George A. Weldon, aged 55 years, found lying in Tewksbury on Wednesday, August 18, performed at the state infirmary in the presence of Dr. George A. Pierce, M.D., and Fabian Packard, M.D., by Medical Examiner Thomas B. Smith, was submitted to Judge Enright in police court this morning and after reading the report he confirmed the opinion of Dr. Smith that Weldon met his death by lightning stroke and not by criminal negligence of any person or persons.

At 10.20 o'clock on the morning of August 17, the dead body of a man identified as that of George A. Weldon, of 221 Cabot street, Beverly, Mass., was found lying near the base of a telegraph pole on a slight elevation at the side of the B. & M. railroad tracks about a mile south of the Tewksbury Centre station, by Joseph Murphy, acting station agent.

The conditions found in the examination were similar to those found in known cases of death from lightning stroke, according to the record which further states that it is probable that Weldon, in going back from a train late in the track for the elevation where his body was found, to get a better view around a curve and that he was standing either in contact or close to the telegraph pole when he was killed by a bolt of lightning during the storm raging at that time.

OLD RESIDENTS HOLD MEETING

The annual meeting of the Old Residents' association of Manchester, N. H., of which Simon B. Harris of this city is president, was held in Odd Fellows hall, Manchester, Wednesday.

The program included greetings by the president who spoke in a reminiscence vein and at the conclusion of his remarks called upon those present who had been Daniel Webster speak at the opening of the first New Hampshire state fair in 1831 to relate their remarks collected upon those present who had heard Daniel Webster speak at that occasion, which was the year before he died. The three who had heard him were Mr. Harris and two women, Mrs. Emma K. Moore and Mrs. Helen Page. These two women were schoolmates of Mr. Harris who met other old schoolmates, including the great grandson of Gen. Stark.

The following new members were elected: Leander Jenkins, Mrs. Rose Burgess, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Chandler, John J. Kelley, Carrie L. Wallace, Mrs. Ida Ruby Blood, Mrs. Ida C. Wyman, A. C. Benton, Mrs. Minnie A. Pike, Daisy M. Brown, Myra L. Douglass.

Dr. and Mrs. Burton W. Lockhart were elected honorary members of the association.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

If you are troubled with back aches. It is a bet that they are caused by weak kidneys; they don't perform their duties, and you should look out, as there is trouble brewing.

When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, headache, dizzy spells, and it is more than likely to bring on rheumatism. The urine is often cloudy, full of sediment, your sleep disturbed by being compelled to arise, one or more times during the night, because of the pain, irritation and abnormal condition of the kidneys and bladder.

If you will take from 10 to 20 drops of SEVEN BARKS in a little water after meals, you will correct the alkalinity of your secretions, thus giving you undisturbed sleep and peaceful rest, preparing you for your next day's duties.

When the kidneys are not doing their duty they allow impurities to accumulate and are converted into uric acid and other poisons, which will cause serious trouble unless they are driven from your system.

If you eat meat regularly, you should smother your kidneys occasionally with SEVEN BARKS, as meat forms uric acid which clogs the pores, so they can not throw off the poisons.

Don't neglect your kidney trouble with the first symptoms, you will be sorry if you do. Get SEVEN BARKS from your druggist at a cost of only 50 cents.

To Discard Freckles, Tan, Pimples, Wrinkles

It is said that creams containing animal grease cause hair to grow. You run no risk of acquiring superfluous hair from using ordinary mercurochrome. There is nothing better for a discolored skin than a cream which actually absorbs the offensive matter. The skin is naturally replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy complexion, full of life and expression. It is the sensible way to discard a freckled, tanned, over-red, blotchy or pimply skin. Get an ounce of mercurochrome wax at any druggist's and apply nightly like cold cream, staining in the morning with a most remarkable transformation.

The ideal wrinkle remover is made by dissolving an ounce of pure power exfoliant in a half pint of witch hazel. Rubbing the face in the solution brings about immediate results.—Adv.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY

Two new members were admitted to the Ladies' Aid society of the Centralville M. E. church at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Avery, 715 Broadway.

This was the first meeting of the fall season. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

U. S. SENATOR WALSH TO AID HOLY CROSS

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 9.—Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts today accepted the chairmanship of an alumni committee which will conduct a campaign for a $1,000,000 fund for the expansion of Holy Cross college at Worcester through the erection of new buildings. Senator Walsh is a graduate of the school of the class of 1893. The expansion program was decided upon at a reunion of alumni at Worcester Labor day. The senator acceptance setting forth the pressure upon his time and energy, but nevertheless welcoming the opportunity to discharge part of the debt he owes to his Alma Mater, not only for the advantages of education but for the inspiration he received from the noble example of the men who were teachers in his day but whose successors are equally devoted to the cause of education.

A very enjoyable surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Erwin, 152 Wilder street, Tuesday evening, when about 24 boys of the commercial class of St. Patrick's Academy gathered in honor of Charles Jr., and presented him a beautiful traveling bag, presentation being made by Brother Nilius. The Paragon orchestra, composed of students of St. Patrick's Boys' School, furnished a very rare and enjoyable musical entertainment. Violin selections were given by Frank Deligan and Master Frank Riden, accompanied at the piano. Refreshments were served and the party broke up at a seasonable hour wishing the young man a very successful school year.

servicing many fish markets and methods of sales, the needs of such a large fish have been explained to you here has been evidenced.

Fish Masqueraded
Some fish which appeared to be below standard have been observed and also little or no attempt to distinguish between the grades has been noted, both as to price and quality. This is more noticeable in markets of the cheaper class than in others. In many types of markets, however, has been seen what at least can be termed evasion of truthful terms; for instance, lowly pollock is masqueraded as "Boston Bluefish," "Boston Bay Blues," and in some cases baldly and boldly labeled "Bluefish."

Catfish, because of its close affinity to the name of despised dogfish, and its own none too pleasant personal appearance, appears, nicely skinned and steamed, on clean white platters, and temptingly marked "Whitefish." Naturally the buyers think it is the whitefish of the Great Lakes, and the catfish is one of the most delicious eating of all our salt water groundfish.

In some markets Pacific halibut masqueraded as Eastern halibut, and Pacific salmon as Eastern salmon. There is no question here, in these two cases, as to the quality of fitness for human consumption, but the economic value of the new label is emphasized in that the unlawful substitution means from 5 to 10 cents a pound to the purchaser, the Pacific fish costing the dealers less in both instances.

These few cases are merely cited to show what this law, properly enforced, can do away with the benevolent, financial and otherwise, of the consumer, and this also without detriment in any way to the honest dealer.

REQUIEM MASSES

HOWE—An anniversary mass will be sung at St. Peter's church Saturday morning, Sept. 11, at 8 o'clock for Mrs. Margaret Howe.

LETTER OF CONGRATULATION

MURDER CHARGE

Adams Held Without Bail at Providence

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 9.—Rolf G. Adams, the 21-year-old East Providence youth who confessed to the murder of Rose V. McKenna and the shooting of her fiancé, William J. Delgan, at the Barrington Parkway on the night of Sept. 2, was arraigned before Judge George N. Bliss in the East Providence district court today. He was charged with the murder of the McKenna girl and with committing a violent assault on Delgan. Adams pleaded guilty to both charges and was bound over to the grand jury, without bail, on the murder charge. On the assault charge, the bail was fixed at $2000.

NEW SUCCESSES FOR POLISH FORCES

WARSAW, Sept. 8.—Successes by Polish troops south of Brest-Litovsk are reported in an official statement issued here. It is stated that soviet forces have been defeated with heavy loss and that Polish troops have crossed to the eastern bank of the Bug and occupied Jankowka, crushing enemy forces concentrated in that vicinity. Prisoners numbering about 1000 have been taken in this action, it is said. Bolshevik columns attacking the Polish lines south of Bysk, have been repulsed by brilliant counter-attacks. Fighting continues between Chedra and Roahatin. The situation along the Dniester river is calm.

Local Traffic Situation

Exemptions are made to the embargo regulations in favor of a large number of commodities such as hard and soft coal, perishables, foodstuffs, household goods. Permits are also being granted for the shipment of prohibited freight in cases where an urgent necessity is shown.

Highway Work Held Up

The slowness of the railroads in getting through cement shipments is halting highway work in Lowell and the surrounding country. On Lawrence street, work on 100 yards of highway has been held up until more cement arrives. For the same reason nothing is now being done toward the completion of the bridge under construction at the intersection of Market, Suffolk, Lewis and Hanover streets. Unless a sufficient quantity of cement is received for making the work before the arrival of cold weather it will be necessary to close the highway at this point during the winter.

The two freight embargoes have not pressed so heavily upon the industries of Lowell as might have been the case for the reason, it is said, that business generally has been dull during the time that they have been in effect.

There are no embargoes in effect at the present time affecting outward bound freight. It is also announced that the railroads are now supplying cars in sufficient numbers to meet the requirements of shippers.

The plan of the chamber of commerce to establish through car routes to western cities for Lowell industries is believed to be one of the most important moves that has been made in a long time to afford better transportation facilities for the shipment of commodities out of the city.

Long on the Road

At the present time less than carload freight bound for western points is transhipped a number of times en route. As a consequence shipments for Chicago are often on the road for a month or six weeks or even longer. With through cars running to Chicago leaving Lowell every day except Sunday it is believed that the time of freight en route will be immediately reduced to a week or ten days at the most and that when the system, if adopted, gets to running smoothly.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING

The municipal council meets tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to consider the approval of monthly bus. An invitation will also be placed before the city fathers for their acceptance from Post 87, of the American Legion asking them to attend the three days carnival to be given by the legion in the Casino September 12, 16 and 17. Thursday night, September 16, will be municipal night.

cars will go through from Lowell to the Illinois metropolis in four days. Attention is called to the fact by Traffic Manager Whitcomb that the adoption of the new plan, and its success if it is adopted, will depend entirely upon the use that is made of it by the business men of the city. It is known that there is sufficient freight originating in Lowell to furnish full loads for at least all of the through cars that it is proposed to start running. To keep the cars in operation, however, it will be necessary for shippers to so arrange their commitments that there will always be a sufficient supply of commodities to fill the cars.

A letter regarding the new plan, to be sent out to Lowell business men by Traffic Manager Whitcomb tomorrow, that explains the proposition in detail reads as follows:

Details of the Plan

"Through the efforts of the traffic department, Chamber of Commerce, the Boston & Maine traffic department have agreed to establish a daily merchandise car Lowell to Chicago, a weekly car to St. Louis, a weekly car to Toledo, Ohio, and a bi-weekly car to St. Paul, Minn., providing that each car contains at least 12,000 lbs.

"In order to make this arrangement a success and give the shippers of Lowell this straight city car service which will avoid the transfer of freight en route and insure more prompt arrival and delivery of shipments to consignees at destination, it will be necessary to have shippers use the same route on their daily shipments Lowell to destination and the following routes are suggested:

Chicago, Ill.: Mondays—Erie Despatch, via Mechanicsville, or if embargoed via Campbell Hall.
Tuesdays—Lackawanna line, N.Y.C. St. L., via Mechanicsville, or if embargoed via Maybrook.

Wednesdays—Star Union line, via Mechanicsville, or if embargoed via Northampton.
Thursdays—C. P. Despatch, Wabash R.R. Del.
Fridays—N. Y. Central.
Saturdays—National Despatch.
Sundays—Wabash R.R. Del.
Toledo, Ohio: Thursdays—N. Y. Central.
St. Paul, Minn.: Tuesdays—C. P. Despatch, N. St. P.S.S. Marie.
Saturdays—Merchants Despatch, N. Y.C. care of C.B. & Q.

Shipments From Western Avenue

"Shippers should take advantage of this arrangement by following the above routes and making sure that their shipments are taken to Western avenue freight house on the proper day. It is hoped that the arrangement can be put into effect the latter part of this month or the first of October and we would like to know if this arrangement meets with your views and if you are willing to co-operate by using this service.

"It should be understood that this arrangement will not interfere with present arrangement of shippers located on private sidings, loading straight carload shipments, or their sidings. If this is a matter that should be called to the attention of your self-ing agents or consignees on account of their controlling the routings will you not take this up with them promptly to see if they will not place their shipping instructions with you to take advantage of this arrangement? It is felt that this service if successful will be something that the shippers of Lowell have never had before and will avoid the transportation difficulties encountered during the last year or more."

To Keep Truck Lines Open

It is understood that the state highway department has purchased a number of snowplows to be used in keeping the roads in condition for travel next winter. Tentative plans have been formulated at the chamber of commerce for having one of these plows assigned for keeping the route open between this city and Boston, over which a large quantity of freight moves by truck. The plan contemplates the calling into service of the trucks owned by local concerns for use in drawing the plows. Practically all of the principal truck owners of the city have expressed their willingness to co-operate in such a movement. If the plan is carried out, as soon as a snow storm that promises to be serious starts, an official of the highway department in Boston will communicate with the chamber of commerce and a truck will be assigned to the work of hauling the plow. The plow will be under the supervision of an employe of the highway department.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES AT AGE OF 100

LITTLETON, Me., Sept. 9.—Angus Melver, aged 100, and a veteran of the Civil war, died here yesterday, following a stroke of paralysis suffered three days previous.

Mr. Melver, who served in the navy during the Civil war, was captured by confederate forces in a naval engagement and confined in the Libby prison at Richmond, Va., for several months.

He is survived by three sons.

CHRISTENSEN TO SPEAK AT FAIR

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 9.—Parley P. Christensen, farmer-labor candidate for president, arrived here today, on a speaking tour of the northwest in behalf of his candidacy. At noon he will go to the Minnesota state fair grounds, where he is scheduled to deliver an address. He will be the third presidential candidate to speak at the fair.

Dr. Aaron S. Watkins, prohibition candidate for president, is on the full program for an address Friday.
